

18 Americans and 4 Vietnamese Hurt By Terrorist Bomb

Saigon Airport Restaurant Demolished by Explosion

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A terrorist's bomb demolished a restaurant at the Saigon airport today, wounding 18 Americans and at least four Vietnamese.

One American Air Force officer was badly wounded. He was sitting outside the restaurant in a bus when concrete fragments smashed into it.

The other injured Americans were 11 U.S. airmen, three Army men and three civilians. First reports indicated they were in the area of the restaurant, not in the building, and were only slightly wounded.

Restaurant Destroyed
The explosion virtually leveled the Air Viet Nam restaurant situated a few buildings from hangars containing U.S. Air Force jets.

American and Vietnamese security men at first thought the airport was under a Communist mortar attack similar to that which killed four Americans and wounded 72 at the Bien Hoa air base two weeks ago.

A few minutes before the explosion an Australian air force plane had arrived from Singapore with flood relief supplies for central Viet Nam.

An armada of 115 U.S. helicopters was landing at the airport as the explosion took place. They had been engaged in the biggest airlift of the Vietnamese war, carrying troops into Communist territory north of Saigon.

Demolition experts said the bomb was of a plastic type and probably weighed about 45 pounds.

It had been placed above a concrete beam inside the restaurant. A similar bombing in the Caravelle Hotel in downtown Saigon last August smashed through 21 rooms.

Four Vietnamese were dragged bleeding from the debris of the restaurant.

Police arrested 15 boys between the ages of 15 and 20 for questioning. At least a dozen U.S. jets were parked in the vicinity of the blast, but they were not damaged.

Only the roof frame of the wooden and concrete restaurant was left standing. Tables and chairs were blown through a wall into a high fence separating the restaurant from the entrance to the civilian air terminal.

The explosion heightened American fears about the vulnerability of the Saigon airport, a center of American activity in South Viet Nam. The restaurant was well inside the airport's security area, and the bomb had been carefully placed in the building.

Rural Seymour Man Killed in Double Crash

Herman Beyer, 73, Dies After Second Car Hits Chopper

Herman Beyer, 73, route 1, Seymour, was killed in a double accident near his farm home on Outagamie County Trunk EE early Tuesday evening, hiking the county's death toll to 26, one short of tying an all-time high for highway fatalities.

The death raised the 1964 state toll to 941, 153 more than on this date one year ago. Beyer's death came as a result of a double collision with a farm chopper wagon about 5:30 p.m. The victim was aiding the driver of one car which had crashed into the wagon, when a second car collided with the wagon, pushing it into Beyer and fatally injuring him.

Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps and county police gave this account:

Police Account
Russell Beyer, route 1, Seymour, was hauling a chopper west on EE to the Beyer driveway. A truck behind the wagon driven by Emory Beyer, provided light for the wagonload. The wagon was being turned into the driveway when a small car driven by Gerald Westerman, 22, 234 Cherry St., passed the truck and hit the side of the wagon.

Westerman received face cuts in the crash and was pinned in his vehicle which had been pushed under the wagon.

Herman Beyer came from the farm home to the scene of the accident and was aiding in freeing Westerman when a second car going east on EE driven by James R. Jansen, 21, route 2, West De Pere, hit the chopper wagon pushing it four feet and into Beyer who fell to the ground fatally injured.

Head Injury
Kemps said Beyer received a severe head injury, multiple skull fractures and internal chest injuries. He lived only a few moments after the crash and was pronounced dead at St. Mary Hospital, Green Bay.

Jansen told authorities he was

F100 Jet Fighter Plane Shot Down In Laotian Area

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. F100 jet fighter plane which was escorting a reconnaissance plane over Laos has been shot down. Rescue operations for the pilot are underway, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced today.

The fighter was one of two aircraft escorting a RF101 photo reconnaissance plane in operations similar to those begun last summer at the request of the Laotian government to detect infiltration of North Vietnamese personnel and equipment into Laos.

McNamara told a news conference that the incident occurred at the 3,300 hourly rated workers curbed about midnight, E.S.T., at the Ypsilanti plant were in the "panhandle" part of Laos; meet today to ratify the agreement in the south central section.

2 Egyptian Diplomats Expelled as Kidnapers

Italy Ousts Them After They Try to Send Drugged Man to Cairo in Trunk

A Rome Customs Official looks at four-foot long trunk in which Josef Dahan, 30, a Moroccan-born linguist, was found today, bound, gagged and drugged. The trunk was about to be shipped to Cairo, Egypt by two UAR embassy officials who have been ordered expelled from Italy. (AP Wirephoto)

BY PIERO DE GARZAROLLI

ROME (AP) — The Italian Foreign Ministry today ordered the immediate expulsion of two Egyptian diplomats caught trying to ship a bound, drugged prisoner to Cairo in a trunk labeled "diplomatic mail."

Rome police said they had information the victim, Moroccan-born Josef Dahan, 30, had been a spy for the United Arab Republic some years ago and more recently for Israel.

The police said Dahan was an Israeli citizen. The Israeli Embassy said it had no record of him.

The Foreign Ministry called in U.A.R. Ambassador Ahmed Naguib Hasim and ordered embassy first secretaries Abdel Monem El Neklawy and Selim Osman El Sayed out of Italy. They were arrested Tuesday night after they tried to load the trunk aboard a U.A.R. airliner bound for Cairo but were released because of their diplomatic immunity.

The Foreign Ministry also delivered a "most formal and energetic protest" against "violation of the international rules of diplomatic immunity and privilege."

Envoy Denies Knowledge
The ministry said the two diplomats had engaged in "evident infractions of the Italian penal code."

The ambassador said the bizarre shipment was "done without his knowledge and was beyond his possibility of direct control," the Foreign Ministry said.

Intelligence sources in Cairo speculated that the affair was part of the continuing espionage war between the U.A.R. and Israel. Israeli agents drawn from Arabic-speaking Jewish communities in North Africa and the Middle East have been planted in branches of the U.A.R. government before.

Only one Cairo paper carried a brief story on the incident, but said nothing about U.A.R. Embassy personnel being involved. No government official in Cairo would comment.

Dahan denied that he had spied for either of the two Middle East rivals, police said. A linguist with bleached blond hair, he told police he had worked for a time as an interpreter at the U.A.R. Embassy.

The locked trunk was halted at Rome's Fiumicino Airport Tuesday night while it was being shipped as diplomatic mail. Police arrested the two first secretaries who were with it but released them because they had diplomatic immunity.

Customs officials heard faint cries of help from the trunk. When police opened it, they found an almost unconscious man strapped to an apparatus that looked as if it came from a medieval torture box.

The trunk was lined with leather and had a tiny seat, built-in shoes and ankle clips to hold the feet in place, and a metal neck clamp and a kind of crash helmet to hold the head steady.

Police said Dahan told them he was approached by two men from the U.A.R. Embassy on Rome's dolce vita street, the Via Veneto, Monday night. They invited him to a cafe for drinks.

After several drinks, Dahan

High Property Taxes Assailed In Los Angeles

Assessor Joins in Protest of Levies Already Excessive

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When Dr. Frankenstein's monster grew too hard to live with, a torchlight parade of peasants in Transylvania marched up to the doctor's door and declared: "This darn thing has gone too far."

Something along this line seems to be shaping up in Los Angeles. It's beginning to look like anti-monster-marching time. The monster: property taxes. And guess who's on the side of the marchers? The tax assessor.

No Single "Monster"
Thousands of angry homeowners, mad over their tax bills, are due to arrive by bus and car at the civic center Thursday at 3:30 a.m. — which, fortunately, is too early for torches.

The question is: Where is Dr. Frankenstein?

Don't look for him in the office of County Assessor Philip E. Watson.

Because Watson, 39, a boat-rocking, hard-nosed tax man, hates taxes — and what he terms the present unfair tax

Strike Ends at 3 of 5 Plants of Allis-Chalmers

Agreements Given Quick Approval By UAW Locals

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Co. opened its doors today for the return of United Auto Workers members at three of five plants struck for 10 days in a contract dispute that idled 10,700 workers in four states.

Details in a new three-year agreement with the farm implement and heavy machinery producer were reached Tuesday and quickly ratified by UAW members at three plants.

Ratification votes were scheduled today at the two other plants, in Springfield, Ill., and Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Approve Contract

Approving the contract Tuesday were UAW locals at plants in La Crosse, La Porte, Ind., and the largest and home plant in suburban West Allis.

The company said work would begin at these three plants with today's first shifts.

There are 5,300 UAW members employed at West Allis, and 700 each in the bargaining units at La Crosse and La Porte.

The UAW has 3,500 members at the Springfield works and 500 at Cedar Rapids.

Up for ratification were a central contract and local agreements.

10 Men Killed As Patrol Plane Plunges Into Sea

ARGENTIA, Nfld. (AP) — All 10 men aboard a U.S. Navy patrol plane returning to fog-shrouded Argentia Naval Base were killed Tuesday night when it plunged into the sea.

The four-engine P3A Orion was approaching on instruments when it crashed three miles west of the field. Persons on shore reported seeing a fire and hearing an explosion.

Two tugboats, two crash boats, a rescue helicopter and a Coast Guard transport found no trace of the aircraft.

The P3A, a military version of the Lockheed Electra, is equipped for antisubmarine warfare and carries an array of detection gear, torpedoes and depth charges.

Identifications of the men were withheld.

Reuther Sees Early Accord At Ford Plants

DETROIT (AP) — A strike which has idled 81,500 Ford Motor Co. workers may end soon, says United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther.

Reuther said in New York Tuesday night that telephone reports he had received from union officials here indicated the strike might end soon. The UAW chief had cut short a European visit to return to the United States and was to leave New York for Detroit today.

He was expected to attend a meeting Thursday of the Ford-UAW national-level bargaining committees.

Ford blames the continuing UAW strike for idling half its output to 1,000 a day. The firm normally employs 160,000 production workers in 90 plants and had been building 10,000 cars a day in recent weeks.

Agreements on ending strikes at Ford's Ypsilanti, Mich., factory and its Buffalo, N.Y., plant were reached Tuesday night.

The 3,300 hourly rated workers curbed about midnight, E.S.T., at the Ypsilanti plant were in the "panhandle" part of Laos; meet today to ratify the agreement in the south central section.

Johnson Expands Legislative Plans

Immigration Revision, Aid To Education Among Goals

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's legislative program is expanding like a batch of yeast bread dough in a warm kitchen.

Until Tuesday, about all that had been mentioned in the way of priority legislations were two big bills the President did not get last year — medical care for the aged under Social Security and the Appalachia bill to pump federal aid into the depressed 11-state mountain region.

But after a White House conference with the President Tuesday, House Democratic Leader Carl Albert talked to reporters in his Capitol office and said these measures also are being considered as next in line after those two:

— Expanded Social Security benefits for all present recipients.

Immigration Bill
— A new life for the area redevelopment program, aimed at jacking up the economies of high-unemployment areas. This proposal fell by the wayside in the last Congress.

— An immigration bill revising the old quota system.

— A program for increased and liberalized unemployment compensation.

— And perhaps a general aid to education bill below the college level, a program that in the past has always foundered on the shoals of the religious school question.

As to the last, Albert said "Well, I'm sure that will be considered."

Details Not Discussed

vacation in his Oklahoma district.

Albert emphasized that none of these things were discussed in detail at the White House, but only in the most general way.

The President, with whopping majorities in both houses, is in a position to get almost anything he wants through Congress.

The President also has called for repeal of a number of "nuisance" type excise taxes on handbags, lipsticks and the like House Republican Leader

Indecency Assailed by Berlin Church Council

BERLIN (AP) — The Evangelical Church Council told West Germans today a "dictatorship of indecency" threatens to take over their prosperous country.

"The symptoms of moral degeneration in our public and private life are increasing in a frightening way," the council said in a Repentance Day statement distributed to Protestant churches throughout West Germany.

The council said it holds the rebel authorities "directly and personally responsible for the safety of Dr. Carlson and of all American citizens in areas under your control."

"As you know," the message continued, "this government, along with other nations has fully supported the unsuccessful efforts of the International Committee of the Red Cross and the OAU (Organization of African Unity) ad hoc commission to get your agreement to an ICRC humanitarian mission in Stanleyville and to arrangements to protect and evacuate innocent civilians."

"We continue to stand ready to cooperate fully in such humanitarian efforts and to discuss arrangements through these organizations. We are so advising the chairman of the OAU ad hoc commission (Prime Minister Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya) and urge you to communicate with him in this matter."

A broadcast from Stanleyville Tuesday gave the first indication that Carlson was still alive. The rebels had announced early Monday that the 36-year-old doctor from Rolling Hills, Calif., had been convicted of espionage and sentenced to die at noon that day. The broadcast Tuesday said that Gbenye met Monday with the U.S. consul to discuss the question of prisoners of war and that rebel officials who defended Carlson at his trial were present.

The broadcast also said demonstrators massed outside Gbenye's home and demanded the immediate execution of Carlson. It said Gbenye told the crowd everyone wanted peace.

Kenyatta's Appeal
The American consul was not identified. Presumably he was Michael Hoyt of Chicago, the consul in Stanleyville who with his staff of four has been under house arrest since the rebels took the city in August.

Prime Minister Kenyatta, responding to a request from the United States, urged the rebels to spare Carlson on humanitarian grounds.

Sets House Afire to Reunite His Parents

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — A 10-year-old boy told police he wanted to bring his parents back together so he set his mother's house afire.

Detective Fairlee Morgan reported Tuesday that the boy said his father lived in Montgomery, Ala., and his mother lived in Mobile in a house belonging to relatives.

The boy was quoted as saying he thought his mother would have to go to Montgomery if the house burned.

The fire was stopped before much damage was done to the small frame house.

Your Money's Worth

Two Methods to Pay Hike Strikes Close Lower Tax Bill Are Indicated

Switch Income to 1965 or Pay 1965 Expenses in 1964

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Let's say you could cut your income tax bill by switching some of your 1964 income into 1965 or by paying some of your 1965 expenses in 1964. Millions of us will be able to save by switching because 1965's individual income tax rates will be lower than 1964's or because of special personal circumstances. How do you go about it?

(1) If you earn money by performing services, you can delay sending out bills for your services to a date which will postpone payment to you until 1965.

(2) If you are an employee who expects a bonus or other special compensation, you can treat the bonus as 1965 income if it is paid to you in 1965—even if you did the work which did the bonus in 1964. A warning: You can't report the bonus in 1965 if your employer offers it to you in 1964 and then, at your request, holds off payment until 1965. If, though, he doesn't offer it to you in 1964 and just pays it to you in 1965, say on Jan. 2—you can properly report the bonus as part of your 1965 income.

Reported Income

(3) If you sell property at a profit in 1964, you can use the installment method of reporting income in order to defer paying a tax on some or all of your profit until later years. But you must make sure that the payments you receive in 1964 are not more than 30 per cent of the selling price to have the privilege of choosing to report your taxable profit in proportion to the actual payments you receive during each year and to have each year's actual expenses consist of dollar of payment you receive of interest and taxes, and you considered part return of our cost and part profit. A warning: If you take anything over 30 per cent of the selling price this owed in 1964, you'll have to report the entire profit as 1964 income. Even a 31 per cent payment would bar you from using the deductions it all in 1965. You installment method of reporting could take the $1,000 standard deduction. This would raise your U.S. savings bonds, you can delay your cash-ins until Jan. 1, 1965. Then the interest on your bonds would be from one year to another, taxed in 1965 rather than in 1964.

(5) If you have deductible expenses which you normally would pay in 1965, such as taxes, interest, medical

Redevelopment Experiment

Plant in Poverty Pocket

WILLIAMSON, W. Va. (AP)—A woodworking plant in a West Virginia poverty pocket — a model experiment of the Area Redevelopment Administration — will be closed because of continued labor problems.

Diretors of the National Seating & Dimension Co., opened two years ago using ex-coal miners to turn out furniture parts, said the firm will close Friday. Company officials blamed labor strife and the expensive retraining of unemployed miners.

Work Force

At the peak of production the factory's work force numbered 126. It had dropped to 75 in recent months. Company officials said some contracts were canceled when production dwindled because of strikes.

The plant is at nearby Varney, James H. Harless, chairman of the board of directors, blamed the shutdown partly on

8,000 Claimed Ready to 'Fast For Freedom'

MADISON (AP)—Sponsors of a "Thanksgiving fast for freedom" on the University of Wisconsin campus said Tuesday they have 8,000 students lined up to miss a meal.

That number, sponsors said, have pledged to go without their evening meal Thursday and the money they normally spend for food will go to buy food for poor residents of Mississippi.

More than 125 schools in the country are participating in the movement, student chairman Dan Friedlander said. The fast is sponsored by the National Student Association. A similar

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEREETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor breath." Get FASTEREETH at drug counters everywhere.

Porter

For instance, if you are required to pay half of your real estate tax bill in October 1964 and half in April 1965 and your community allows you to prepay the April 1965 installment in December, you can deduct the April prepayment this year. Or if you have a loan and your bank or other lender is willing to accept a payment of interest due in 1965 in 1964, you can deduct this prepayment this year.

A key to your decision on whether to speed up or defer expenses between 1964 and 1965 is how your itemized deductions compare with your standard deduction and there is a simple tax saving opportunity here which you will may overlook. The heart of the tax saving lies in bunching your actual expenses in one year and then to use the higher standard deduction in the other year.

Deductible Expenses

To illustrate, suppose your itemized deductible expenses for taxes, interest, medical expenses, etc., run about $900 a year and you also are entitled to an optional standard deduction of $1,000. Because the $1,000 standard deduction is larger than your $900 of actual expenses, you might easily just take the standard $1,000 deduction in 1964 and again in 1965 and limit your total deductions to $2,000. But suppose your $900 of each year's actual expenses consists of dollar of payment you receive of interest and taxes, and you considered part return of our cost and part profit. A warning: If you take anything over 30 per cent of the selling price this owed in 1964, you'll have to report the entire profit as 1964 income. Even a 31 per cent payment would bar you from using the deductions it all in 1965. You installment method of reporting could take the $1,000 standard deduction. Allies Ponder Problems of Nuclear War

Principal Issue Is 'Who Shall Pull the Trigger'

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Despite the outward signs that all nations fear a nuclear war so much that they will be hesitant ever to use such devastating weapons, the United States government and the governments of its allies in Western Europe nevertheless are today deeply engrossed in the problem of how to handle a nuclear war.

The principal question at issue is who shall pull the trigger in reprisal if an attack comes. Up to now, it has been assumed that the president of the United States would have the veto. Now it looks as if there will never be an effective western alliance under any such conditions and that the European governments will insist on an equal voice.

The question emerges because of the possible power of what is called a "multilateral force." It would consist of a fleet of 25 surface ships, each of which would carry eight Polaris nuclear-tipped missiles. These missiles are the same as those aboard Polaris submarines of the United States Navy and have a warhead of one megaton, which is equal to 1,000,000 tons of TNT. These weapons are capable of destroying the 140 main cities of Russia.

Nuclear Power

Up to now, the world has been given the impression that most of the nuclear power would be exerted through missiles from bases either in this country or on the European continent. But apparently the idea of firing nuclear weapons from the ocean is considered very effective because it would be difficult for enemy submarines or aircraft to distinguish the surface ships from the thousands of other merchant vessels traveling the high seas.

The theory is that, while Russia might make a surprise attack on the land bases and at the same time destroy a substantial part of the areas heavily populated by the western peoples, it would be possible for ships at sea equipped with nuclear-tipped missiles to survive and, by retaliating immediately, to lay waste a vast area of the enemy country. It is obvious, of course, that if any such retaliatory power can be exerted, the mere possession of such weapons would be a deterrent.

Perplexing Aspects

But the whole problem has many perplexing aspects from a practical standpoint. The firing of the missiles from the surface ships would be controlled by a multilateral group of allied officials, not on board any of the ships. These would represent the various countries which provide the crews, and the officers would take orders from the decision-making group. As of now, the countries participating in the preliminary experiments are the United States, West Germany, Britain, Italy, Holland, Greece, Turkey and, to a lesser extent, Belgium. The exact control formula has not been worked out, but will be the subject of intensive negotiations in the coming weeks.

The British prime minister is expected to discuss this subject with President Johnson here in early December. One proposal has been made that a majority of the group should order the fleet into action. Another plan is based on the principle of unanimity. The United States has heretofore insisted that it must retain a veto power over the weapons. But now there are beginning to be reports that the United States might relinquish the veto at some future time.

It has been suggested, for instance, that wars of a purely European nature might arise and the United States might MADRID (AP) — Spain's sunshine — one of the most attractive features for the increasing flow of tourists — is beginning to worry the Spaniards.

A long drought has reduced the level of water reservoirs 50 per cent. Authorities in some areas are contemplating water rationing.

Madrid, which consumes 700,000 cubic meters a day, has a 40-day supply. A number of places report no rain in more than five months.

wish to remain aloof. But what bothers Russia at the moment is the possibility that West Germany might have a considerable voice in such a multilateral force because the United States and West Germany are scheduled to pay 40 per cent each of the cost. The pressure in Western Europe to persuade the United States to relinquish its veto power — something which, if ever agreed upon, would have to be authorized by Congress — has been building up steadily.

West Germany

West Germany might some day decide to go its own way, as France has done under General de Gaulle. Great Britain's skillful negotiators are trying to compose the differences, and they are suggesting that perhaps the multilateral nuclear force can be made part of a larger allied nuclear command which would consist of British V-bombers and other allied nuclear planes, as well as British Polaris submarines.

The secretary-general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization has just declared at Paris that NATO must have full military and political control over the allied multilateral nuclear force, and that this must be incorporated in the alliance. So it does look as if no one man in the western alliance finally is going to decide who uses nuclear weapons. For if the United States doesn't delegate some authority to NATO, as was recommended during the campaign by Senator Goldwater, the likelihood is that each of the larger nations in Europe will develop its own nuclear force. 1 Man, 1 Vote Is Now Law Of the Land

Both Parties Are Experts at Art of Drawing Boundaries

BY RAYMOND J. CROWLEY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Mark Twain used to tell a story about a trainload of state legislators who were going on a picnic.

The train was held up by bandits. Having relieved the bandits of their valuables, the legislators proceeded to their picnic.

This, of course, is not an accurate description of modern state legislators. For one thing, they lack the old-time vigor.

But many of them are putting up quite a fight — a fight they cannot possibly win — a fight to preserve "rotten boroughs."

The term rotten borough derives from British parliamentary history. The big dictionary defines a rotten borough thus:
"An election district that has many fewer inhabitants than other election districts with the same voting power."

Prevailing Situation
This exactly describes the situation now prevailing in most states of the union. There has been a tremendous growth in the population of cities and suburbs, especially the latter, but the outnumbered rural folks still control — or at least exercise a veto power — in most state legislatures.

In some cases the state constitutions called for mandatory reapportionment after each census but legislators blithely ignored this requirement, in some cases for as long as 60 years.

A lawyer from one of those states requested more time from the Supreme Court.

"How long do we have to wait?" asked Chief Justice Earl Warren, with the air of a man who is tired of waiting.

Law of Land
Now the law of the land — as pronounced by the Supreme Court — is "one man, one vote" — that is, legislative districts have to be equal in population, as nearly as practicable.

No there is nationwide ferment, special sessions of legislatures, with federal courts breathing down their necks. The idea of the controlling rural folks is to reapportion in such a way as to give up as little power as possible.

New Jersey has come up with a plan — not quite new because it was tried in New Mexico but promptly slapped down as a violation of the state constitution. One aim of this plan is not to retire any legislator to private life.

Weighted Voting
It provides for weighted voting in the state Senate, that is, the senator from populous Essex County would have 19 votes, as against one for the senator from Cape May County.

The issue is intertwined with partisan politics. Example: In the Goldwater debacle, Democrats won control of the New York Legislature from the Republicans.

Now Republican Gov. Nelson
A. Rockefeller is planning to call a special session of the legislature soon to reapportion the state before the Democrats get a crack at it in 1965.

The Democrats are hollering bloody murder. It makes a heap of difference who gets to do the redistricting, because both parties have experts in gerrymandering — the art of drawing boundaries in such a way as to put the opposition behind the eight ball.

Over much of the country, this kind of footwork is going on. A truly fundamental political revolution is under way, with incalculable effects on the American system.

New Police Chief For Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's capital is getting a new police chief.

He is Deputy Chief John B.
Layton, 52, who will succeed
Chief Robert V. Murray, 60, on Dec. 1 in the $23,000-a-year job.
Murray is retiring for health reasons.

Layton's promotion to head of the 3,000-man Metropolitan force was announced Tuesday by District commissioners.

Airman Sentenced To Life in Prison For Slaying Wife

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—
A Wisconsin-born airman stationed at nearby Eielson Air Force Base was sentenced to life imprisonment Tuesday for the slaying of his wife Feb. 10, 1963.

Wayne F. Conley was sentenced after he pleaded guilty to a charge of second degree murder before U.S. District Judge Raymond E. Plummer. The judge said the sentence may be altered after Conley undergoes psychiatric treatment.

A native of La Crosse, Wis., Conley and his German-born wife, Erika, had five children.

Attorney Says Ivy Favors Early Trial

Physiologist Puts Patient Ahead of Self, Counsel States

BY FRANK E. JOSEPH
CHICAGO (AP) — An attorney for Dr. Andrew C. Ivy said today the internationally known physiologist is more concerned for the future of Krebiozen, the drug he championed as a cancer treatment, than he is for his own future.

Ivy and three others were indicted Tuesday by a federal grand jury for their connection with Krebiozen, termed by the government as worthless as a cancer-arresting drug.

Ivy, 71-year-old research professor of biochemistry at Roosevelt University and a former vice president of the University of Illinois, was among the first and most ardent supporters of Krebiozen. He brought it to national attention in 1951 and has supported it despite a prolonged controversy over its effectiveness with medical groups and the government.

Wants Early Trial
John Sembower, who with George T. Davis of San Francisco will defend Ivy against the government's indictment, said Ivy is hoping for an early trial.

"He's always worried about the patient more than he is about himself," Sembower said.

In San Francisco, Davis said, "I talked with Ivy earlier. He said he was raring to go. We'll ask for the soonest (trial) date possible."

The 49-count indictment charges Ivy and the others with mail fraud, conspiracy, mislabeling and the making of false statements about Krebiozen.

Ivy was named in 44 counts that carry a maximum sentence, upon conviction, of 150 years in prison and a fine of $95,000.

Others Indicted
Others named in the indictments are:

Dr. Stevan Durovic, 59, a naturalized American from Yugoslavia who developed the drug. Durovic claimed Krebiozen was extracted from the blood of horses by a costly and complex secret process.

Durovic's brother, Marko, 64, a lawyer; Dr. William F. P. Phillips, 52, an associate of the Krebiozen Research Foundation; the foundation itself; and Promak Laboratories, where Durovic produced the drug. All are of Chicago.

According to the indictment, the defendants said Krebiozen cost $170,000 per gram to produce. The indictment said the substance's active ingredient was a common body protein, creatine monohydrate, which costs about 30 cents a gram to produce.

Other allegations by the grand jury included:

A Food and Drug Administration investigation, after years of government efforts to obtain from Durovic a large enough drug sample to test, found creatine and mineral oil to be the only substances in each $9.50 Krebiozen ampule.

The National Cancer Institute and the U.S. Public Health Service determined that Krebiozen is valueless as a cancer treatment. Their conclusions came after studying 504 case histories of cancer patients using Krebiozen.

Veto Vowed by Bayoregon in City Spending

Kaukauna Mayor Advises Council to Live Within Budget

KAUKAUNA — Following adoption of the $2,253,005 budget for 1965 by city council Tuesday night, Mayor Joseph Bayoregon advised aldermen to live within the budget or he would exercise his right of veto power.

Noting increasing costs, Bayoregon questioned whether 3 per cent raises received by most taxpayers in the community during the past year were high enough to meet the rising tax costs and assessment charges together with the normal living cost increase.

He said the budget could easily be cut and tax rate reduced by about $3 if the $100,000 concrete road program were eliminated. People asked for this program and to eliminate it would probably mean the end to a program which has done much for the improvement in the city, said the mayor. He said this might be a step backward.

Storm Sewer
He asked for better planning on storm sewer projects and pointed to one plan which has cost the city more than $78,000 in the last three years with little return. He warned of the forthcoming bond issue for school and sewage disposal plant and indicated the 1966 tax rate hike could well be higher than that proposed this year.

School obligations, which take 57 per cent of the total tax levy, must be met, said Bayoregon.

St. Elizabeth Appoints New Credit Chief

Daniel H. Boone has been appointed new credit manager at St. Elizabeth Hospital, replacing James Hickmott, who resigned in September to become administrator of the Appleton City Home.

In other staff changes, Arthur Borsechik has been promoted to chief pharmacist to replace the late Sister M. Laurissa, and Roman J. Woychik has been added to the pharmacy staff.

Boone, 1721 N. Appleton St., a native of Waupaca, served in the U.S. Navy Hospital Corps. He was assistant manager of the Northern Credit Company Inc. office in Appleton for the last one and one-half years, and before that was employed in sales work by Serv-Us Bakers and in the home construction business in Waupaca.

Woychik, 968 E. Harding St., Menasha, a native of Arcadia, Wis., attended Wisconsin State College-La Crosse for two years and received his bachelor of science degree in pharmacy from the University of Wisconsin in 1948. For the next 10 years he owned and operated a drug store in Arcadia. He then worked with the Morton Drug Company Inc., Neenah - Menasha, as manager of the Medical Associates Clinic (now Riverside Clinic), and for the last three years was with Walgreen Drug Store, Appleton.

It was incorrectly reported last week that the divorce had been granted to the wife. She was restored use of her maiden name, Margaret Crissman.

Budget Hearings Opened

Knowles Critical of Agency's Approach to Money Requests

MADISON (AP)—Republican Gov.-elect Warren P. Knowles has opened hearings on state agency budget requests for the 1965-67 biennium by telling one department, "Your whole approach is on a shotgun basis that kind of frightens me."

Both Knowles and Democratic Lt. Gov.-elect Patrick Lucey told another department its job might be better handled by another agency.

Four agencies made their requests in meeting with Knowles on Tuesday. The hearings will continue for several weeks with the larger departments the last to appear.

All requests are expected to total about $895 million. The approved budget for the 1963-65 biennium was $626.4 million.

The State Commission on Aging asked $72,018 more than the $78,786 received in the current biennium. This agency was told by Knowles to use a "rifle approach" rather than the shotgun method of handling its duties.

Major Request

One of the major requests by James F. McMichael, the agency director, was for funds to add a consultant to work on the problem of housing for the elderly.

Knowles discouraged the consultant proposal, saying that the issue of housing for the aged could be "a tremendously costly program."

"We're going to have real trouble in financing our needs right now," said Knowles, who has pledged to remove "every bit of waste or extravagance."

McMichael said that 15 per cent of Wisconsin's 65 and over residents who have incomes of less than $2,000 live in substandard housing they own.

He also said that 29.2 per cent of renters in the same age bracket live in substandard homes.

Additional Funds

McMichael said another area that needs additional funds was pre-retirement planning.

The Committee on Water Pollution asked $81,439 more than the $236,170 received from the 1963 Legislature. Director Theodore Wisniewski said the increase was needed to hire an engineer and secretary to handle an increased work load and to meet rising transportation costs.

Prospects for NATO Nuclear Force Bright

U. S. Official Says Agreement May be Reached Next Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—Undersecretary of State George W. Ball has returned from Europe optimistic about prospects for agreement early next year for formation of a nuclear weapons force within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Ball came back Tuesday from the first of two scheduled European missions concerned primarily with divisions among the Atlantic allies over a variety of military, political and economic problems.

His primary concern, however, has been to do everything possible to move forward work on the nuclear weapons problem.

Spirit of Allies

He told reporters that he brought back "a good deal of optimism as regard to the spirit" with which interested European allies are now working on the U.S. proposal for organization of a seaborne nuclear missile force.

"I think the German government is very determined to try to make a success of this proposal," Ball said.

However, he said it would take some weeks beyond the previous year-end deadline for an agreement in order to give the new British Labor government time to work out its position on the nuclear weapons issue.

UAW Approves Tentative New Kohler Contract

KOHLER, Wis. (AP)—Tentative agreement on a new one-year contract for nearly 3,000 United Auto Workers members at the Kohler Co. was announced Tuesday by company vice president Lyman Conger.

Conger said terms of the contract could not be disclosed pending ratification by UAW Local 833.

Ray Majerus, a UAW international representative, said Dec. 5 had been set as the tentative date for the ratification meeting.

A company spokesman said the agreement would be retroactive to Oct. 8 when the old agreement expired. The union had asked a five-cent hourly pay increase plus improvements in hospital and life insurance plans.

Kohler and the UAW have negotiated two other one-year contracts since a bitter six and a half year strike which ended in 1960.

Managing Editors Take Issue With Critics of Past Coverage of News

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Newspaper critics got a double-barreled retort today before the 31st annual convention of the Associated Press Managing Editors Association.

Sam Ragan of the Raleigh News and Observer and the Raleigh Times shot back at the Warren Commission members.

In his prepared text, Ragan called the past 12 months "the crucible year of the American press."

He started, he said, with the assassination of President John F. Kennedy and continued through the election.

Foremost among the problems, Ragan said, was coverage of the assassination. The Warren Commission said news personnel in Dallas, Tex., showed a "lack of self-discipline" and created "general disorder" in Dallas police headquarters.

Ragan said the American press should have been commended rather than censured for its coverage of the assassination.

Mass Coverage

He said, however, that this doesn't mean "we should ignore a criticism voiced in the commission's report—the matter of mass coverage—or indeed, at times, mob coverage—of major news events."

Ragan noted that an APME committee has been studying this and working with other organizations such as the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

Then he said: "Pool coverage seems to me to be the most practical answer at this time. In this consideration the committee will have to have the cooperation of the nonprint reporters and recorders, who more often than not make up the bulk of the mob on the scene and most

Congressmen Wary Of Pacific Airbase Tour

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Republican congressmen have questioned the propriety of a 19-day tour 10 congressional committee staffers are making of Air Force bases in the Pacific—at taxpayers' expense.

Some of the staffers on the Air Force-sponsored tour work for committees with little if any connection with military matters.

"This kind of operation seems to run counter to (Secretary of Defense Robert S.) McNamara's pledge to reduce spending in the Defense Department," said Rep. Frank T. Bow of Ohio.

Cost of Trip

A high-ranking member of the House Appropriations Committee, Bow said "It will be interesting when the Defense Department's budget comes in next year to find the cost and the reasons for a trip of this kind."

Rep. William G. Bray of Indiana, a member of the House Armed Services Committee, said he favors foreign trips by congressmen and staff members when they serve a useful purpose.

But of this trip, Bray said "I can't see any justification for it, and I think it's one of the expenses that could be cut down."

The Air Force furnished The Associated Press Tuesday with some facts about the tour and the names of those on it after Capitol Hill sources had made the trip known.

Bill to Air Force

Acknowledging that it is footing the bill, the Air Force said it has not calculated the cost.

The congressional staffers—no Congress members are making the trip—stay in quarters at the bases where available and in hotels where not available, the Air Force said. They are being transported in a military version of the Constellation, a four-engine propeller-driven craft.

"General orientation and familiarization" with military activities and facilities in the Far East is the purpose of the tour, the Air Force said.

Committees represented include the Senate subcommittee on Constitutional Rights, the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee, and the Senate subcommittee on Investigations.

Some of the subcommittees deal directly with military operations and government procurement.

The tour, from Nov. 5 to Nov. 24, includes air bases in Canada, the Aleutians, Japan, Korea, Okinawa, Formosa, Hong Kong, Manila, Guam, Wake Island and Hawaii.

Ike Ends Vacation

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower wound up a vacation of several weeks at the Augusta National Golf Club and returned to his farm near Gettysburg, Pa., Tuesday.

Carter's report to the APME was primarily one of compiling the views of other editors.

Noting that it had been a dull campaign, he said, "shorter campaigns would help, but as one friend said, better candidates is the real answer."

"As we did some soul-searching on the question of press fairness," Carter said, "and most of us feel that newspapers were eminently fair to both candidates during the campaign."

"If anything, we may have leaned over backward this year in our care to avoid the charge of bias that was leveled in many instances in 1960."

Priest Fears Migrant Farm Worker Influx

Catholic Group Fought Against Foreign Labor Use

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Roman Catholic organization that fought against the foreign farm migrant program fears President Johnson will permit the continued influx of thousands of low-wage workers under the Immigration Act.

"It is now becoming apparent that the growers are determined to continue to demand and get the equivalent of a slave labor force," said the Rev. James L. Vizzard, S.J., chairman of the National Catholic Rural Life Conference.

Disgraceful Venture

"To me it is a profound embarrassment and humiliation that our federal government feels it is obliged to cooperate with them in this disgraceful venture," the Jesuit priest told a labor conference Tuesday.

Legislation to extend two laws permitting foreign laborers into the United States during harvest time was killed in Congress. The laws expire Dec. 31, and the Labor Department has scheduled public hearings to determine new rules for letting the workers in under the Immigration Act.

Mexican Workers

Imported Mexican workers in the Southwest and British West Indies workers in Florida will be most affected by the expiring laws.

Father Vizzard noted that President-elect Gustavo Diaz Ordaz of Mexico visited President Johnson at his Texas ranch last week and reported later that among other things they talked about the migrant worker program.

16 Arrests in Brown County Gambling Raids

GREEN BAY (AP)—Sixteen persons, including 11 tavern operators or bartenders, were arrested on gambling charges Tuesday in a series of raids by state agents and local police in Brown County.

Dist. Atty. Robert Warren said 31 charges filed involved commercial gambling. He said the other two concerned machines.

Most of the charges involved football pool tickets, Warren added.

The 16 arrested were released in $500 bond each for appearance in County Court today.

Dahan was groggy and scarcely able to speak when he was lifted from the trunk. With time and medical treatment, he told more and more. But his account, as given by the police to newsmen, had many gaps in it.

There was no indication of when he worked at the U.A.R. Embassy. He also was quoted as saying he had lived in Naples structure — as much as any of the appertic property owners.

Walton says he is willing to go out on the street himself to pass petitions to get a state constitutional amendment on the next ballot that would put a lid on the rise of property taxes.

"We are already in the danger zone of excessive taxation," he told a news conference Monday. "During the past 10 years, property taxes have tripled."

"Tax bills are rising twice as fast as personal income. It is obvious we are at the point of no return."

There is no Dr. Frankenstein, according to Walton's view, because no one person created the present tax system, like Topsy. It just "grew."

But, he hopes, the taxpayers' revolt may stimulate backing for his proposal for a ceiling on property taxes.

Tough on Elderly

Taxpayer caravans are ready to move on the Civic Center, and there is one plan for clogging the county's telephone lines with calls.

"The burden is particularly acute for the elderly people living on fixed incomes," said Walton. "These citizens worked all their lives to provide a measure of security for their retirement years, only to find themselves being taxed out of their homes."

Also being hurt, he said, are younger wage earners who are being forced to pay out more in taxes each year than they put into the equity on their homes.

Walton wants the state legislature to make the property-tax ceiling two per cent of fair market value. If it doesn't, then out come the petitions, he vows.

At present Los Angeles County homes are assessed at 25 per cent of their value, a 2 per cent ceiling would make the tax a maximum of $8 per $100 of assessed valuation.

In Los Angeles the combined city-county school rate is now $9.1837 per $100.

Prince's Essays Are Published By German News

LONDON (AP) — Prince Charles got top marks today for democratic views after publication of excerpts from his school essays. But one newspaper gave him a minus for business instinct.

Queen Elizabeth II, Charles' mother, was not amused that the German magazine Der Stern had published extracts from the copybooks of the 16-year-old heir to the British throne.

"It is highly regrettable," said Buckingham Palace, "that the private essays of a schoolboy should have been published in this way."

"If the essays are genuine," said the Daily Mirror, Britain's largest daily, "Prince Charles' views on democracy are very democratic."

But the Daily Telegraph, reporting that Charles himself was the original vendor of the essays, indicated the prince had greatly underrated their worth.

Quoting Terence Smith, head of a press agency which handled one stage of the deal, it said the prince ran short of pocket money while at school. He recalled, the paper said, that collectors were paying good prices for manuscripts — and sold four of his school papers to a schoolmate for 30 shillings — $4.20.

When the essays were offered some seven months after death in Fleet Street some weeks ago, had sealed his lips and rendered the price started in the thousands.

Kemps said he will confer with Outagamie County Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer later today about a possible informal inquest into the accident.

Beyer is survived by two daughters, two sons, 13 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Funeral services will be at 1:30 p.m. Friday in Emmanuel Lutheran Church, Seymour. Burial will be in Bovina Cemetery. Friends may call at the Muehl Funeral Home, Seymour, after 2 p.m. Thursday until 10:30 a.m. Friday.

Also killed Tuesday was Edward Schneider, 52, of Milwaukee when struck by a car while crossing a street a few blocks from his North Side home.

MacArthur Aide Takes Issue on Truman's View

NEW YORK (AP) — Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, longtime aide to the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur, accuses former President Harry S. Truman of "low-level, guttersniping form of personal attack" on MacArthur.

Whitney, now retired, issued a statement Tuesday night which made several charges of distortion by Truman.

Truman has made two half-hour telecasts of a taped series of 26 detailing important decisions he made while president. In the first two he discussed his removal of MacArthur as Far East commander in 1951 on the ground of insubordination.

Whitney accused Truman of "a violent personal attack upon the general's character, timed to coincide with the release of the first two telecasts."

Johnson Adds To Proposals For Congress

Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, who engineered some serious setbacks to the President's legislative program in the last session, already has conceded quick passage of the medical care and Appalachia bills.

All May Be Passed

Halleck told a news conference Monday that "maybe everything the President wants will be automatically enacted into law."

Albert said the President promised to complete his legislative program as soon as possible and put it in the hands of the congressional leaders.

In the meantime, Albert said, the leaders would "get together with these committee chairmen with legislation hanging over from the last session . . . and see if we couldn't put them together quickly for quick action."

Social Security, medical care and Appalachia fall into that category.

Albert said the new Congress probably would take five or six weeks to get organized.

Asked if passage of medical care in June sounded like a good guess on the timetable, Albert said: "That sounds pretty slow to me."

Inauguration of Knowles May be In Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Republican Gov.-elect Warren P. Knowles reportedly is considering switching his inaugural ball into Milwaukee, a Democratic stronghold.

Ody Fish, who managed Knowles' election campaign against Democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds, said Tuesday the ball will be held in the Milwaukee Auditorium Jan. 5, the day after the inauguration in Madison.

However, Knowles said later that Fish's announcement was premature.

"We are still making plans," Knowles said. "There's been no decision made and won't be until I make it. We are working on it. There's no ostry until I make the announcement."

Most inauguration balls have been held in Madison. It is believed that none, at least in this century, has been held in Milwaukee.

The Auditorium has a capacity for 6,000 persons, larger than any available site in Madison.

The central agreement provides for a wage increase of 2.5 per cent, with a minimum of six cents an hour, effective Nov. 1, 1965, and an increase of 2.8 per cent, with a seven-cent minimum, on Nov. 1, 1966.

Nine cents of a 14-cent hourly cost of living allowance currently being paid will become part of the hourly base pay. In addition, the company will assume the full cost of life, disability and medical insurance, giving workers an additional three cents an hour in take-home pay.

Bigger Pensions

The central agreement also increases pensions and unemployment benefits, improves vacations and adds two paid holidays for a total of nine.

Wages under the old contract ranged for $2.21 to $3.63 hourly at all five plants. The old 45-month contract expired Nov. 1, but was extended for a week as talks continued. The strike began Nov. 8.

Not involved in the strike were plants at Pittsburgh and Gadsden, Ala., where the current contract extends until Nov. 1, 1966. However, a company spokesman said newly nego-

Alaskan Tides Flood 33 Homes

SELDovia, Alaska (AP) — Thirty-three homes were flooded Tuesday night as record high tides hit this quake-tilted community.

Seldovia sank 3.4 feet after the March 27 earthquake and the high tides of this week were expected to do minor damage.

Sandbags had been flown in from Anchorage.

The community of 400 is a boardwalk town largely built on piers.

"We're jacking up some buildings to get them above the high water mark," Bud Dietz, manager of the telephone company said.

Tides of 21 feet were expected here today. A 22.4-foot tide, the year's highest, is expected Friday.

Fruit Cakes 'n' Steamed Pudding

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Food Editor

Fruit cake and Christmas pudding are perhaps the most traditional of holiday foods in American homes . . . both borrowed from ancestral origins from across the sea, but part of the American culinary heritage just the same.

Recipes much like the Christmas Fruitcake used today are found in old English cookbooks. In the 17th Century, these rich fruit or nut-filled cakes were part of Twelfth Night Celebrations. Usually it was the fruit cake which contained both a bean and a pea.

The lucky lad who found the bean in his slice of cake was proclaimed king of the festivities and the finder of the pea became queen.

The Williamsburg White Fruit Cake is one of the most treasured of Southern American recipes. The crowning glory of this cake is its almond paste and elegant white icing with a snowfall of grated coconut put on the cake the day before serving.

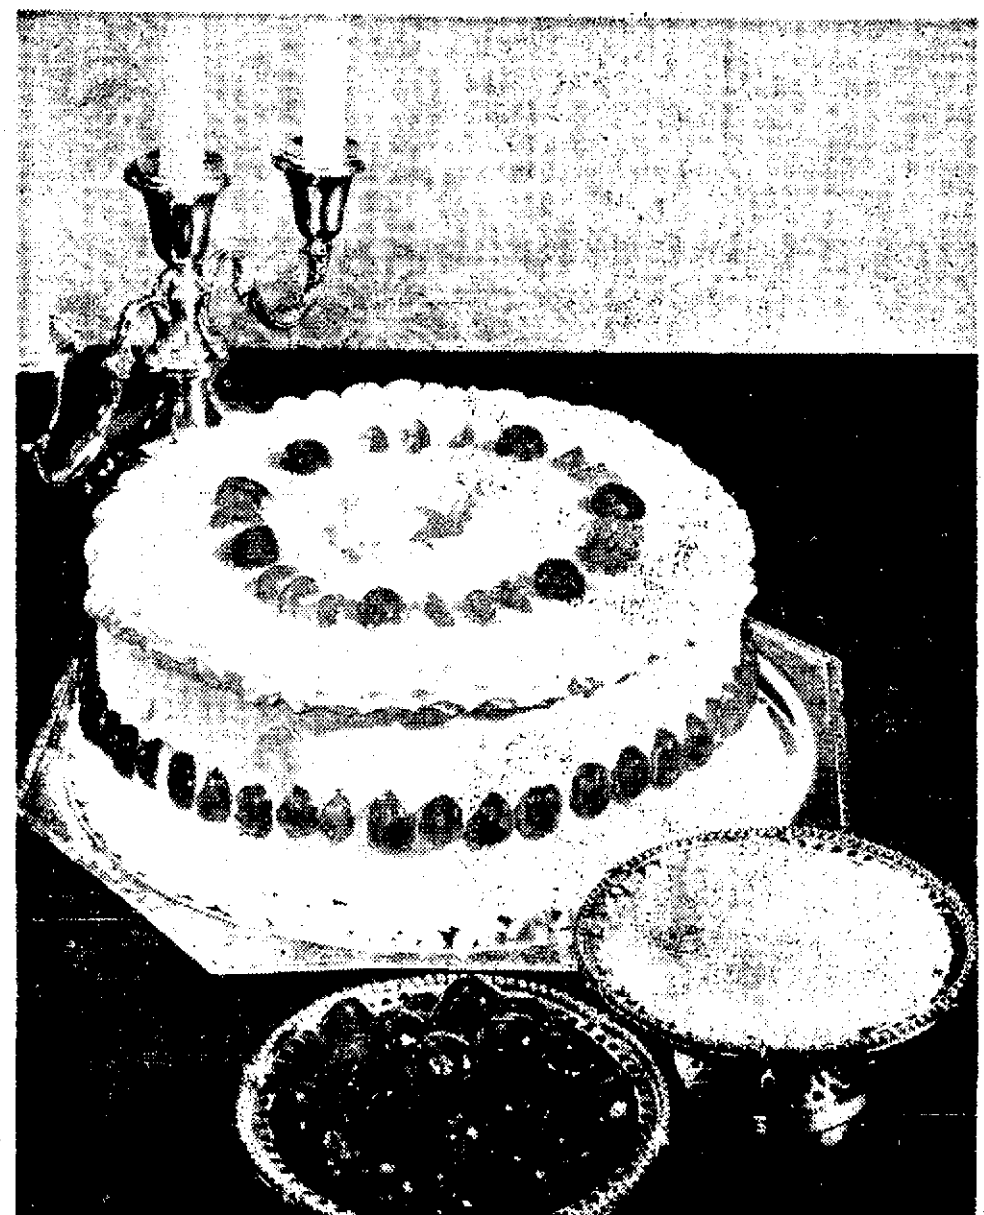

As any good Southern cook will tell you . . . and most firmly . . . the dicing of the fruit is a home job with the choicest of candied fruits. She really prefers to do it herself and only relies on ready-diced, mixed fruits when she has to. The Southern cook frequently grates her own coconut, too, starting by pounding a nail into the end of the coconut and draining the milk out first. Then the coconut is cracked smartly with a hammer and split into pieces. After the brown husk and skin is peeled away, the coconut is grated or shredded in the electric blender or old-fashioned shredder. Preparation is part of the tradition.

Anyone who has tasted this delicate fruit cake made with fresh coconut and whole candied fruit will agree it's worth all the extra trouble.

Steamed Pudding
Another fragrant holiday dessert that usually comes to the Christmas table . . . and frequently the Thanksgiving Day table . . . is the Christmas pudding. This steamed pudding recipe . . . chockful of raisins, cashews and bright candied cherries . . . is kin to the fruit cake. A marvelous buttered raisin

Dr. Imhoff Tells BPW Biased Sampling Prevents Determining Cause of Crime

Those charged with the rehabilitation of criminals must plead guilty to failure, stated Dr. Verne Imhoff, director of the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center and sociologist. The speaker, who received his Ph.D. in Clinical Psychology and Criminology, told members of the Appleton Business and Professional Woman's Club at a Tuesday evening dinner at the Conway Hotel that he hoped to expose them to insights into crime they had never before considered.

The reason for lack of success is the failure to develop an ideological theory, a base for establishing the cause of crime. Until we know why people become criminals, he said, we cannot treat them.

While visiting 48 state prisons doing research for his doctoral dissertation, Dr. Imhoff concluded that prisons were not the place to study crime. In prisons, he stated, it is impossible to get a representative sampling of criminals.

Few Arrested
The speaker went on to explain that there is no way of assaying the actual volume of crime committed. One can study only the crimes known to the police, and this is judged to be less than 40 per cent of actual crimes. Of the known crimes, only 30 per cent are cleared by arrest. Of these 21 per cent are indicted; 18 per cent adjudicated; 12 per cent found guilty, and of these, only 3.4 per cent incarcerated.

Therefore, he said, criminals in prison do not provide a sampling on which to base valid conclusions.

In addition, Dr. Imhoff cited three categories of crimes where the defendant doesn't go to prison. One is the white collar criminal, reflected in the boards of directors of various corporations operating in defiance of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law and others. While the CHILTON—Mr. and Mrs. George Winkler, 503 Park St., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Cheryl, to Fred Depies. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Depies, 2318 Monroe St., New Holstein.

The bride-elect was graduated from Marvel Accredited School of Beauty Culture, Milwaukee, and is employed by the Alice Lee Hall Hair Stylists, Milwaukee. Her fiancé is a sophomore at Wisconsin State University, Whitewater.

The couple plans a January wedding.

When one considers that professional thieves number 250,000, the obviously biased sampling provided for study is evident. It is impossible for scientific research on the causation of crime.

He compared the study to that of the medical profession, seeking a cure for cancer. When they know the cause, they will undoubtedly find the cure, he said. But the medical profession has a better chance than those studying crime. They have all the sampling they need for study and research. The criminologist is stymied in his attempt to learn by the impossibility of studying a representative section of those involved in crime.

Johnsons Anniversary Marked at Surprise Party

BY MARTHA COLE
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson mixed sentiment and fun in a surprise dinner for his wife on their 30th wedding anniversary.

The President, with the aid of White House staff members, planned the celebration himself—inviting 20 guests to dinner Tuesday night, choosing the menu and planning the anniversary cake.

The guests were personal friends of the First Family. The Johnsons' daughters, Lynda, 20, NEENAH—Mr. and Mrs. Harold Roloff, route 2, Neenah, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Nina, to Eugene Hardell, Oshkosh. He is the son of Mrs. Bernice Clifton, Madison, and Harold Hardell, Mosinee.

Miss Roloff is employed at the Fox River Tractor Co. Her fiancé is employed at the Atlas Tag Co.

The couple has not set a wedding date.

25th Anniversary

LEEMAN—Mr. and Mrs. Howard Falk observed their 25th wedding anniversary Saturday evening. Mrs. Clyde Huss, Kaukauna, and Miss Evelyn Falk, Appleton, were hostesses at a surprise party in honor of the couple.

One of the gifts the President had for his wife was arrangements for a trip for her. Where or when, the White House would not say. After the campaign, Mrs. Johnson had said she wanted to go away on a trip for a few days and "walk under the sky."

In fun, the President also gave Mrs. Johnson a picture of "Gunsmoke" star Marshal Matt Dillon, whom the First Lady likes to watch on television.

Johnson inscribed the picture, "To Lady Bird and my Saturday night competition."

The White House did not disclose what Mrs. Johnson had given her husband to mark the day.

The cake was a big white frosted sponge cake of three layers with lemon filling, decorated with yellow roses, white doves, two silver sprigs and snapshots of Mrs. Johnson and her family.

The menu card, engraved at the top with C.T.J. (Claudia Taylor Johnson, the First Lady's name) and L.B.J., included such items as presidential fillet of beef and mixed green salad a la Xochimilco.

The 30th anniversary calls for gifts of pearl. When the Johnsons posed Tuesday for anniversary portraits, the First Lady wore a single strand of pearls and also a pearl ring.

However, White House aides said they were not new, and they knew of no gift of pearl Tuesday from the President.

Your Problems Preoccupation With Death Unhealthy Sign in Daughter

BY ANN LANDERS
DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our daughter is 12 years old. I am concerned about her continuing devotion to Marilyn Monroe. My husband says I'm making too much of it but I feel the child's preoccupation with a movie star who committed suicide is unhealthy.

August 5th was the second anniversary of Marilyn Monroe's death. Our daughter remembered the date and searched several newspapers for clippings and put them in her Marilyn scrap book. We live near the star's final resting place and our daughter wants to go there every day.

I've decided not to say or do anything until I get some honest advice from you.—Waiting to Hear

Dear Waiting: Try to shift your daughter's interest. If she has modest talents—voice, dancing, painting, or piano, give her lessons. Tell her she may not visit the crypt again until next August 5th.

After six months, if her morbid preoccupation with Miss Monroe persists, take her to a psychiatrist.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My mother and father were happily married for 52 years. Mother passed away last June. Dad took it awfully hard—for about three weeks.

Now he is no busy making dates with all the widows in the neighborhood we don't know where he is half the time.

Dad used to complain that his teeth didn't fit, and that his lumbago was bothering him but since he has become a ladies' man he says he feels better than he has in years. To look at him you'd never guess he is 75 years old.

All this may sound fine, but I'm worried that the lively pace may shorten his life. He could drop dead doing the hully gully any minute. Also, is it possible that he is in his second childhood? How do we get him to slow down without hurting his feelings?—C.C.

Dear C. C.: Leave him alone. His second childhood may be a lot more fun than his first.

Better that Gramps should be whooping it up than sitting at home glued to his rocking chair. If he drops dead doing the hully gully at 75 that not a bad way to go.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm no youngster, Ann, and I've been around enough to know the score in anybody's ball game. At 42 I've had three unsuccessful marriages and I don't need a fourth.

The man I've been seeing is 40 and has had two divorces. We get along fine. I don't ask any questions when he goes on a bender (about once every three weeks) and I'm not trying to make him over to suit me. He likes my two teen-age children and is a better father to them than their real dad ever was.

This man has had some money troubles lately and wants to move in with me until things ease up. He claims that since everyone knows we are going together I should be grown up about his moving in. Last night he said, "I'd marry you, honey, but I'd be a lousy husband."

I need an outsider's opinion and you're elected.—Adeline

Dear Adeline: So he'd be a lousy husband—but he'd make a great roomer?

Tell him no thanks. If you can't think of any better reason to keep this guy's clothes out of your closet consider your children, please.

To solve some of the frustrations, disappointments and disillusionments of married life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

YOUR CHILD MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS
1 OUT OF 3 DOES
Pinworms, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms, ugly parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it. To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W Tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then, Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Parents' World Allowances Are Not Bribes For Child's Good Behavior

DEAR DR. JONES: Is there any connection between working and getting paid? I s a y there is, and our kids should not get their allowances when they don't help with the dishes and garbage or when they do not straighten their rooms.

But my wife Dr. Jones says that isn't the right way to teach responsibility. She says they have a right to their allowances anyhow, so they'll learn to handle money. I can't see why a lazy, uncooperative kid should get handed a gift.

DEAR W. L.: An allowance isn't a gift and it isn't wages paid for work. It's money you provide so your children learn to use money. There's plenty of time for them to learn to work for money once they have learned to be responsible. The way to shrink away from behaving in a for them to learn that is for them to practice doing what they're supposed to do, not for them to pay fines.

If you seriously believe your children are "lazy and uncooperative," you'd better get them some personal professional psychological help. Healthy kids are active and like to help their parents and other people they like.

DEAR DR. JONES: My mother says that if I don't get my son trained before winter that it will be next summer before I'll get anywhere with it. He doesn't seem to want to do what I tell him, though, when I tell him to use the toilet. He was just 2 years old on Labor Day.

DEAR MRS. H. Y.: There's nothing magical about the seasons — children grow and develop any time of year. Your son is just about at the age when many boys begin to take an interest in using the toilet. Don't tell him to use it or otherwise push him about it. If for money once they have learned to be responsible. The way to shrink away from behaving in a for them to learn that is for them to practice doing what they're supposed to do, not for months.

The Ailing House Soda May Remove Soap Spots

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN
Q: We have just moved into a several-years-old house. The kitchen has tiled walls and the area around the sink is grimy with an accumulation of soap spots (so is the tiling above tub and in the shower stall). Regular scrubbing doesn't seem to remove this. Can you suggest anything?

A: Try removing the soap spatters with a damp brush sprinkled with dry sal soda concentrated (available supermarkets, hardware and housewares stores). Then rinse thoroughly with clear water to remove all traces of the sal soda. Keep this away from painted surfaces as it will soften paint.

Q: I bought an old mahogany highboy at an auction of household effects. There is an accumulation of wax all over the surface. How can this be removed without damaging the finish of the wood?

A: Good wax-removing preparations are now widely available in housewares stores; get the type for use on furniture. Or wipe liberally with a turpentine-soaked cloth. For best results, do this at least twice.

Q: We have just purchased an old, neglected house with casement windows in the living room. We plan to do as much of the repairs ourselves as possible. Several of the casement panes are either broken or missing. How is this type of pane replaced?

A: Work a pointed hook, like an awl or a very slender pointed screwdriver, between the glass and leading to scrape out the old cement and to open the space in order to take out any broken glass. Before replacing the glass place in the grooves a fairly stiff paste made of a half and half mixture of linseed oil and spar varnish with a little Japan drier and powdered whiting. Embed the glass into this paste, adding more paste if necessary to make a watertight fit. To force the leading back in place, place the handle of one screwdriver on the outside and the handle of another one on the inside and press both of them together until the metal is forced back to its natural position. Wipe off all excess cement with turpentine.

SEAMS TO ME Questions, Answers

By Patricia Scott

Q. How do I make a trimming that is strips of covered cord and knotted in the middle for the inset of the yoke of a dress. I know how to cover cord, but where do I go from here? Mrs. R. S.

A. Cut the covered cord into equal lengths, depending on how wide you want your inset. Knot each strip in the middle. On a piece of paper, draw evenly-spaced lines as a guide and pin the strips of cord to the lines. Stitch across the ends of the strips on one side (top illustration). Then stitch the ends on the other side. Turn under the edges of the yoke fabric and place them over the stitched lines on each side of the paper guide. Top-stitch the cords very close to the edge. Or, if you wish to conceal the stitching, as in the bottom illustration, stitch from the underside and then turn fabric back and press. After all the stitching has been done tear off the paper.

Q. What are zigzag stays? Miss R. H.

A. They are small wire stays bent into a zigzag shape. They are adjustable and are usually used on necklines that stand up to hold the edges flat and in place.

Q. In which direction do you press the seams on a set-in sleeve? Miss T. L.

A. Press the seam over the eased cap (the portion between the notches) toward the sleeve. The underarm seam is pressed open.

Centerpiece Uses Autumn Plants, Colors

With all the bounty for which we are grateful at the Thanksgiving season, perhaps none is more beautiful and more heartwarming than the fragrant fresh flowers so easily available these days.

Back at the time of the first Thanksgiving, our Pilgrim mothers had to content themselves with decorating their humble dwellings with dried autumn leaves, Indian corn, shiny yellow pumpkins, and, perhaps, a rare blossom or two as yet untouched by frost. Today fresh flowers are the prime decorative choice of most hostesses during the holidays.

This change has been brought about by modern technology in growing and shipping of flowers. This is the same sort of technology that makes it possible for us to enjoy fresh fruits and vegetables as well in winter as we can during the spring and summer months.

Autumn Colors Used While the growing of some flowers is dictated by custom and consumer demand — such as poinsettias at Christmas or lilies at Easter — most varieties are available during the greater part of the year.

At Thanksgiving, the most popular flowers tend to carry out the colors we associate with golden autumn — the rusts and yellows, the oranges, and the browns. These colors bring indoors the same warm tints we have so recently enjoyed on the maples and oaks as the first frost touched them.

A particularly lovely arrangement can be made by combining bright yellow mums, daisy type pompons, and brown-speckled yellow lilies. Velvety brown cattails are used for accents and a few tiny, feathery green ferns are tucked here and there to complete the welcoming bouquet that is suitable for buffet or hall table.

Our Pilgrim ancestors would be amazed with the lavish flowers that abound in even the tiniest florist shop, but they, too, would feel that fresh flowers are a perfect way of giving thanks for all the great and good things that come our way during the year.

Fruit Cake, Pudding Season Has Arrived

rum sauce goes with it and may be flamed or not when served.

Actually, both fruit cakes and puddings may be made in any shape . . . in large or individual molds. The pudding may be steamed in a curvaceous mold to make it beautiful . . . or steamed in attractive individual baking cups.

The secret of success in steaming puddings, according to the experts, is to fill the mold only three-fourths full, or even a little less. Cover tightly with its own lid or with foil secured with a string. Make sure the boiling water in the steaming kettle comes half way up the mold. Keep it this way, replenishing with boiling water as needed.

Vary The Sizes

Remember that almost any size container may be used for a fruit cake. The important thing is to prepare it properly. It may be baked in a loaf pan, a large tube pan, a muffin pan, one-pound coffee can, a diminutive six-ounce juice can or a fluted fancy mold usually associated with the steamed puddings.

The small pans should be greased liberally — larger loaf or other pans may be lined with brown paper and greased — cupcake pans may be lined with paper baking cups or greased. Some experienced cooks find foil a suitable pan liner.

Several rules worth following in the preparation and care of fruit cakes are these:

- 1 - Fill pans with batter only to 1/2-inch of top edge
- 2 - Cool cakes thoroughly before wrapping.
- 3 - Wrap cakes carefully in heavy foil, transparent wrap or plastic bags.
- 4 - Store in cool dry place.
- 5 - Age fruit cakes at least one month to mellow flavors.
- 6 - Decorate or frost after aging.
- 7 - Cut with sharp, thin-bladed knife.

Now for the recipes. These are old and honored ones — adapted here and there — but traditional as they come.

CHRISTMAS FRUIT CAKE

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour

1 teaspoon baking powder

1/2 teaspoon salt

1/2 cup butter

1 cup sugar

3 eggs

1 tablespoon grated orange rind

2 teaspoons grated lemon rind

1/2 cup orange juice, pineapple juice or apricot nectar

2 cups pecan halves

16 ounces chopped, mixed candied fruits

1 cup red candied cherries, left whole

1 cup dried apricots, quartered

1 cup seedless raisins

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cream butter, add sugar and cream well. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Add grated fruit rinds. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with fruit.

WILLIAMSBURG WHITE FRUIT CAKE

1 cup butter or margarine, softened

2 1/2 cups sugar

4 eggs, separated

4 cups sifted, all-purpose flour

1/2 cup sherry

1 pound chopped walnuts

3 cups light, seedless raisins

1/2 pound red candied cherries, finely chopped

1/2 pound preserved pineapple, cubed (about 1 cup)

1/2 pound preserved citron, diced (about 1 cup)

2 cups grated coconut

Sherry

Almond paste

Royal icing

Grated coconut, red and green cherries

Cream together butter and sugar. Beat in egg yolks, one cup flour, half-cup sherry; blend well.

Combine remaining three cups flour, walnuts, raisins, chopped cherries, pineapple, citron and grated coconut. Mix well, then add this mixture to egg yolk mixture.

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; fold into batter. Turn into greased and floured 10-inch tube pan lined with heavy brown paper. Bake in 300-degree oven, preheated, for about two and one-half hours.

Cool cake and turn out of pan. Saturate cheesecloth with sherry; wrap this around the cake. When cake is thoroughly cool, wrap cheesecloth covered cake in foil and store in cool and dry place. At two-week intervals, remove foil and moisten cheesecloth with sherry and re-wrap cake.

The day before the cake is served, apply almond paste and let dry at room temperature for four hours. Reserve one cup Royal Icing for piping; spread remaining icing on top and sides of cake. Using pastry tube, decorate cake with reserved icing. Garnish at once with coconut and red and green cherries. Let lying dry at room temperature for about four hours.

ALMOND PASTE

1 pound blanched almonds, ground

1 pound confectioners sugar

1 egg white

1 tablespoon lemon juice

1/2 teaspoon orange extract

1/2 teaspoon vanilla

1 egg white, slightly beaten

Mix together ingredients except for beaten egg white, press into ball. Roll out one-third of almond paste on waxed paper dusted with confectioners sugar into 8-inch circle. Roll remainder of almond paste into 28 by 4-inch strip; cut into eight pieces. Brush top and sides of cake with slightly beaten egg white. Arrange 8-inch circle of almond paste on top of cake. Press strips on sides firmly.

ROYAL ICING

6 cups confectioners sugar

2 egg whites

2 tablespoons lemon juice

Blend ingredients together until smooth. Use as directed above.

RAISIN PUDDING

1 cup dark seedless raisins

1/2 cup cashews, plain or salted

1/2 cup candied cherries

1/2 cup butter or margarine

1/2 cup sugar

1 teaspoon vanilla

1 egg, beaten

1 1/4 cups sifted flour

1 teaspoon soda

1/2 teaspoon salt

1/2 cup milk

Buttered Raisin Rum Sauce

Coarsely chop raisins and nuts, slice cherries. Beat butter with sugar and vanilla until light and fluffy; blend in beaten egg. Add flour resifted with soda and salt alternately with milk. Stir in raisins, nuts and cherries. Spoon into well greased 6-cup

A Lovelier You By Mary Sue Miller

Order of Bath

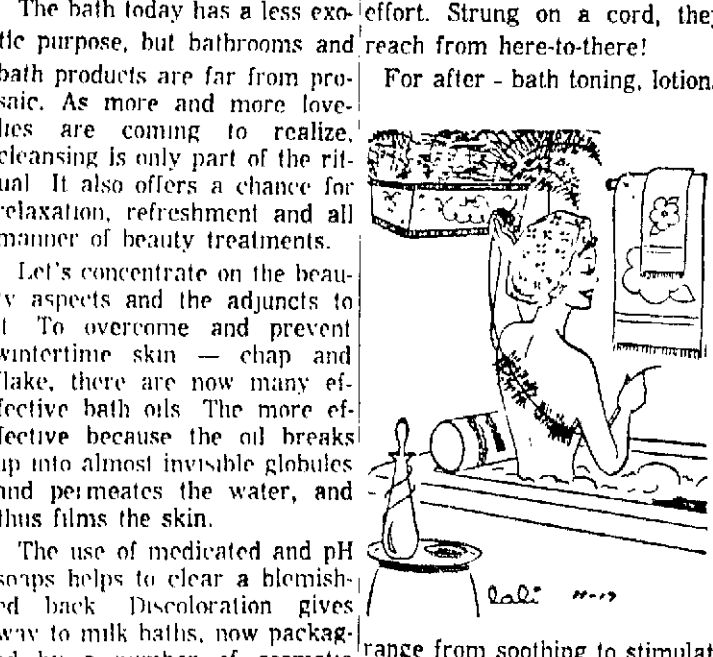

BY MARY SUE MILLER

Bathing in ancient times was a ceremonial affair. In many cultures, the object was to propitiate the gods or to seek their favors.

The bath today has a less exotic purpose, but bathrooms and bath products are far from prosaic. As more and more lovelies are coming to realize, cleansing is only part of the ritual. It also offers a chance for relaxation, refreshment and all manner of beauty treatments.

Let's concentrate on the beauty aspects and the adjuncts to it. To overcome and prevent wintertime skin — chapped and flake, there are now many effective bath oils. The more effective because the oil breaks up into almost invisible globules and permeates the water, and thus films the skin.

The use of medicated and pH soaps helps to clear a blemished back. Discoloration gives way to milk baths, now packaged by a number of cosmetic range from soothing to stimulating. The soothing lotions are creamy, and incorporate healing herbs and oils. Stimulating rubs, called "friction lotions," tingle and contract the pores.

Taken all in all, not to make bathing a beauty rite would seem like letting a good cause go by default.

mold and cover tightly. Place on rack in large kettle. Pour in boiling water to come half way up sides of mold. Cover kettle tightly and steam in continuous boiling water two hours. Replenish water as needed. Remove mold from water, take off cover and let pudding stand five minutes before turning out. Serve warm with Buttered Raisin Rum Sauce. Makes five to six servings. Use foil if mold has no cover.

BUTTERED RAISIN RUM SAUCE

1 1/4 cups water

1/2 cup dark seedless raisins

1 cup brown sugar

1 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch

1 1/2 tablespoons lemon juice

3 tablespoons butter

1/2 teaspoon salt

1/2 cup light rum

Simmer raisins in hot water for two to three minutes. Mix brown sugar with cornstarch; add to raisin mixture. Add lemon juice, butter and salt; stir in.

Live Within Your Income

Health Does Not Enter Into Charge for Annuity

BY MARY FEELEY

Dear Miss Feeley:

We have $25,000 in savings and have no relatives. We are troubled as to the best way to take care of our old age.

My husband will be 66 next year and suffers badly from arthritis. I am 57 and have had heart surgery. Is there an insurance company that would give us a sum each month if we were to turn over our savings to them?

M. & G.W., New York City

Dear M & G.:

You can buy an annuity with a lump sum of money, and receive a monthly income for life. The state of your health doesn't enter into this kind of insurance, since you are paying for your security in advance.

Whether you want to put all of the $25,000 into an annuity depends on your financial need. Would there be any other income besides this annuity? Have you considered leaving a small portion of this money in the savings bank for emergency use?

I think you should discuss this matter with a reliable insurance agent. The approximate cost for a "joint and survivor" annuity, at your ages, is $2,100 per $10 a month of lifetime income. There are other plans available which the agent can explain to you when he has more details to work with.

Dear Miss Feeley:

I am an average taxpayer, making under $7,000 a year, and would like to know where I can get information on the new tax law regarding deductions and changes in general. I have been making out my own tax forms for years and find that the information supplied with the tax form is not enough.

I know of one complete tax guide, but this runs about $30 and goes into great detail about expenses accounts, etc. My deductions are strictly commonplace. I would like a good guide detailing the new changes in the law. Thank you for your help.

G.L., Hampton Bays, L.I.

Dear G.L.:

I suggest you write for Document No. 5526, available through the U.S. Treasury Department, Internal Revenue Service, Washington, D.C. This is an explanation of the new law as approved by the President Feb. 26, 1964. Or perhaps you can get a copy at your local Internal Revenue office.

Some banks in various communities are also making these explanations available on request. If you want to arm yourself with still more data, you can write to the Commerce Clearing House, 4025 W. Peterson Avenue, Chicago, Ill. 60646, for their extra yearly edition called "New 1964 Federal Payroll Withholding Tax Tables." It's $1 a copy.

Dear Miss Feeley:

I have a rather unusual problem and I'm hoping you can help me straighten it out. It has caused some discussions between my husband and myself.

We have two children of our own, and I'm also caring for two other children on what you'd call a part-time basis. My problem is how to figure what to charge for this care.

The two children are 8 and 6 years old. Their mother drops

Sheinwold Good Play Offsets Bad Cards

It's tempting to brag about the bad cards you pick up and the bad breaks you run into. If you believe in your bad luck, choose the right play and thus put yourself beyond the reach of bad breaks.

West opened the five of spades, and South captured the king with the ace. Needing three tricks in the red suits, South immediately led a low diamond to dummy's king.

East won with the ace of diamonds and returned a spade to set up his partner's suit. South then discovered that he could get only two diamond tricks and that he would have to try the hearts for his ninth trick.

West promptly took the ace of hearts and the rest of the spades to defeat the contract.

South added the hand to his long list of hard luck stories. "I could have made the hand if diamonds broke normally," he reported, "or against any break if only West had the ace. The odds were 5 to 1 in my favor, but they could be 100 to 1 and the cards would still find a way to beat me."

Actually, South's game is unbeatable despite the bad breaks. After winning the first spade, cents (after school); Total: $3.70 daily or $18.50 per week. You're also justified in asking from $5 to $7.50 per day for those day-long holidays.

Any shift gives South time to develop diamonds.

South is safe even if East has the ace of hearts. If East steps right up with the ace of hearts, South plays low and is then sure of three heart tricks. He needs nothing more for his contract.

If East has the ace of hearts but plays low on the first heart trick, South wins with the king and shifts to diamonds to make sure of two diamond tricks. This gives him the three red tricks he needs for the game.

South is sure of game no matter how the red suits break and no matter where the aces are located.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer you hold: S A Q 10 H K 8 3 D 8 7 4 C A K 9 4. What do you say?

Answer: Bid 1 NT, as shown in the diagram. Some experts refuse to bid one notrump unless they have all four suits stopped, but this creates other bidding problems. Most experts believe in bidding 1 NT with the right point count and distribution even if one suit is unstopped.

Conservatives and 'Liberalizers' Vie For Russian Power

Younger Men May Win Out in Fight to Shape Soviet Economy

BY WILLIAM RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The new changes at the top of the post-Khrushchev Soviet regime suggest a power struggle between liberalizers and conservatives over the course of the Soviet economy. Clash and compromise seem to have played a part.

Younger generation technocrats are making their influence strongly felt. There are signs that the younger men eventually will emerge with the lion's share of political authority, but the struggle is not over.

The younger men seem impatient to remove some of the restraints on Soviet economic development, even to the point of experimenting with capitalist methods.

Upsurge in Trade

This could lead one day to an upsurge in East-West trade, more economic independence for Red ruled Eastern Europe and aggravation of the dispute with the Communist Chinese.

The Communist party Central Committee made these appointments Monday. Alexander N. Shelepin, 46, and Pyotr Y. Shelest, 56, to full membership in the party's ruling Presidium, and Pyotr N. Demichev, 46, to alternate Presidium membership.

The committee dropped Vasily I. Polvakov, 58, a Khrushchev farm expert, from the secretariat, and dismissed alling Pyotr R. Kozlov from the Presidium, thus eliminating one conservative voice from the top of the apparatus.

Shelepin's rise was predictable. As former chairman of the State Security Committee (KGB) and chairman of the party and State Control Committee, Shelepin probably played a significant role in the premier, Nikita Khrushchev, as the party's first secretary and the party's first secretary.

Close to Leadership
Shelepin, a deputy premier, now may be moving close to the top rung of party leadership, possibly eventually as deputy to First Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev.

Shelepin's rise and the advancement of Demichev to alternate Presidium membership can encourage new generation leaders anxious to build the consumer economy despite resistance from hard-line conservatives and the military.

Shelepin, who was the youngest member of the secretariat, rose through the Young Communist League. He was its first secretary — its chief — from 1952 to 1958, before becoming chairman of the state security apparatus and the party control commission.

Demichev is closely associated with the chemical industry, a hope of the younger men for sharply stepped up consumer production.

Men to Watch

These appointments seem to enhance the positions of younger generation leaders, like Presidium member Dmitry Polyanskiy, 47, an able administrator with wide experience. Polyanskiy and Shelepin now are men to watch.

The moves can strengthen the party leadership in its direction of the Soviet economy. Both Shelepin and Polyanskiy probably support Brezhnev and the party's ruling Presidium, in their influence could be decisive.

But the appointments of Shelepin and Demichev are balanced by elevation of Shelest, 56, to the presidium.

A metallurgist who has been first secretary of the party in the Ukraine, Shelest's background suggests sympathy for top priority for heavy industrial development.

May Oppose Shifts

Probably Shelest was supported for advancement from party and State Control Committee, Shelepin probably played a significant role in the premier, Nikita Khrushchev, as the party's first secretary and the party's first secretary.

Dismissal of Polvakov from the secretariat probably is attributable to Khrushchev's farm failures and the party's anxiety to make a fresh start in attacking agricultural problems. It is noteworthy that the Central Committee annulled Khrushchev's reorganization which divided the party apparatus into farm and industry specialists. This divided authority and spread confusion.

State Officials Will Get Higher Pay in New Year

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin constitutional officers and legislators will take over their jobs at better pay.

The 1963 Legislature approved the hikes, effective Jan. 4, the date when the state and county officers assume duties.

The 100 assemblymen and 17 state senators will get $450 a month, compared to the present scale of $300. Holdover senators will continue to receive $300 until after the 1966 election. Senators serve four years and assemblymen two.

Republican Gov.-Elect Warren Knowles will get $25,000 a year. Democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds' pay is $20,000.

The salary of Lt. Gov.-Elect Patrick J. Lucey will be $7,500. Outgoing Republican Lt. Gov. Jack Olson receives $6,500.

Bronson La Follette, newly-elected Democratic attorney general will receive $20,000. The man he defeated, Republican George Thompson, gets $17,000.

The salaries of Secretary of State Robert Zimmerman and Treasurer Dena Smith, both Republicans and re-elected, will be $13,500 instead of $12,000.

LBJ Park Causing Some Controversy Over Acquisition

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — "Land on B. Johnson State Park" of officially exists today, but there is controversy over acquiring the necessary land and over the reason for the park's creation.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission — including long-time Johnson friend and business associate A. W. Moutson of Johnson City — unanimously adopted a resolution Tuesday creating the park across Ranch Road 1 from the "Little White House."

Acquisition of the land "by purchase or condemnation as the case or cases may be," is ordered by the resolution.

Earl W. Sweeney, a retired Houston contractor who lives with his wife on a 70-acre peach farm across the road from Johnson's ranch house promised a court fight if offered less than he thinks his land is worth.

When a police car swooped onto the scene, Paul was there with directions. The officers seized Donald Lee Hawkins, 22, of Arlington, Tex.

Paul was the hero of the hour. He obliged newsmen with a little of his background. He would be 16 Dec. 17. He was a sophomore in high school.

"I go to Easton eight hours a day, work at the motel for eight and sleep eight," he said.

Labor Department Frowns

A department representative, reading of Paul's exploit, promptly notified the motel that he is too young to work.

Boost to Economy

Americans to Borrow, Spend More This Year

BY SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans are set to spend more and borrow more the rest of this year, if present signs are borne out. And the boost this will give the economy is expected to carry over at least into next spring.

Consumers currently are increasing both the amount spent and the percentage of their incomes parted with. The slowly rising cost of living accounts for only part of this outlay. And little fear of sharp increases in prices in the future is reported.

In September consumer credit also rose fairly sharply, as much of the increased spending was put on the cuff.

Higher Inventories

At the same time, business was raising inventories and this, too, is a form of betting on future prosperity. An even surer sign of confidence is the latest report on business plans to raise spending for new plants and equipment. Industrial leaders are counting on expanding markets.

Pollsters studying consumer intentions cite a significant rise in optimism during the summer months. They project this, plus gains in personal income totals, into larger dollar outlays in the months ahead. The University of Michigan's Institute of Social Research thinks the marked improvement in consumer sentiment between June and September is due more to actual increases in before-tax income of many Americans rather than to the gains in take-home pay from the federal tax cut. Its survey shows many consumers dismissing the tax cut as too small on a weekly basis to make much difference in their spending.

Debt Payments

Earlier debt repayments and savings increases have given many consumers a greater readiness this fall to spend. The institute thinks "the economy will be stimulated by substantial consumer demand during the Christmas season and also in the spring of next year when fiscal policy will provide a much smaller new stimulus than in the spring of this year."

Government figures for September show that the change from saving to spending and borrowing is already under way.

Installment debt rose $513 million to nearly $57.5 billion. Other forms of credit brought the total of consumer credit to $73.5 billion.

In the three summer months personal consumption spending hit an annual rate of $40.5 billion. Personal savings dropped to 7.4 per cent of after-tax income, after rising to a higher than average 8.2 per cent in the April-June quarter.

Usual Course

Retailers, bankers, government economists agree that the American consumer now seems headed back to his usual course — his spending rising with his income, and his borrowing increasing with his improved confidence.

Retail sales figures show a 5.4 per cent rise in the average for August and September from the average for last December and January. Biggest gains were reported by durable goods stores, as they usually do when personal incomes are rising strongly.

How far this spurt in consumer confidence carries will have much to do with how long the current business upswing can extend its record-setting duration.

U. S., Brazil Ratify Extradition Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Brazil formally exchanged papers Tuesday ratifying an extradition treaty they signed Jan. 13, 1961.

When the treaty goes into effect Dec. 17, it will complete extradition arrangements between the United States and every nation in the western hemisphere.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Ambassador Juracy Magalhaes exchanged the ratification papers in a brief ceremony at the State Department.

Rusk called it a "symbol of the expanding ties of friendship between our two countries."

Magalhaes said, "I have the same feeling — it is a mark of the friendship between your Country and Mine."

Bishops Reflect American Values In Debates at Ecumenical Council

Prelates From United States Represent Second Largest of Catholic Hierarchies

BY BENNET M. BOLTON
VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Roman Catholic bishops of the United States came into their own at the almost-finished third session of the Vatican Ecumenical Council, leading the debate on several major topics and reflecting traditional American values.

American prelates have spoken out in St. Peter's Basilica more than 30 times since September to urge strong council stands on such matters as religious liberty; racial equality; forthright clearance of Jews from any special blame in the Crucifixion; church-state separation; relieving world hunger; and the right of governments to have defensive nuclear arms.

The five cardinals and 288 archbishops and bishops of the United States make up the second largest national hierarchy in Roman Catholicism, exceeded only by Italy's 430 prelates. They represent 44 million Catholics, almost equal to the entire population of Italy.

Initial Session
At the initial council session in 1962 they were largely listeners and followers. Critics suggested they might go down in history as "the silent church" if they remained on the sidelines. At the second session in 1963 they began to emerge with self-confidence and sign up on the speaking list to present their viewpoints, often in the name of many or all of the U.S. bishops.

At this current third session they moved into the spotlight. Cardinals Richard Cushing of Boston, Albert Meyer of Chicago and Joseph Ritter of St. Louis all arose Sept. 23 to voice a plea for freedom of conscience in every man in following the religion he believes.

For Cardinal Cushing it was a rare appearance before the council's microphones. "The church must become the champion of religious freedom," the 69-year-old cardinal insisted in his booming Latin with Bostonian overtones. He won a burst of applause despite council rules against it.

Cardinal Meyer said "nothing else done at the council will have much importance" if the declaration on religious freedom of conscience failed to win approval. Cardinal Ritter stressed "the interior, natural, native right" of every person to his religious beliefs.

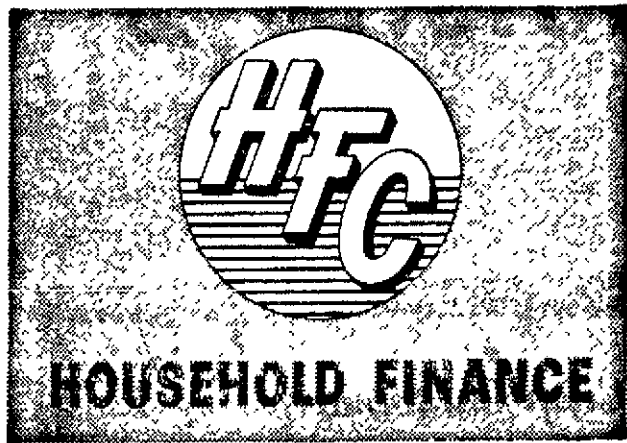

On Nov. 17, the New York cardinal urged the council to declare itself in favor of public funds for religious schools, saying, "Justice and equity demand that a proper portion" of public funds be given to religious schools.

Cardinal Ritter and Archbishop John Patrick Cody of New Orleans spoke out the same day on the subject. The former praised the council's approach to church-state relations, noting that one of its schema proclaimed the right to parents to choose schools for their children. Archbishop Cody referred to the "tremendous sacrifice (by some parents) to send their children to Catholic schools."

Louis all arose Sept. 23 to voice a plea for freedom of conscience in every man in following the religion he believes.

tonian overtones. He won a burst of applause despite council rules against it.

Cardinal Meyer said "nothing else done at the council will have much importance" if the declaration on religious freedom of conscience failed to win approval. Cardinal Ritter stressed "the interior, natural, native right" of every person to his religious beliefs.

On Nov. 17, the New York cardinal urged the council to declare itself in favor of public funds for religious schools, saying, "Justice and equity demand that a proper portion" of public funds be given to religious schools.

Cardinal Ritter and Archbishop John Patrick Cody of New Orleans spoke out the same day on the subject. The former praised the council's approach to church-state relations, noting that one of its schema proclaimed the right to parents to choose schools for their children. Archbishop Cody referred to the "tremendous sacrifice (by some parents) to send their children to Catholic schools."

Louis all arose Sept. 23 to voice a plea for freedom of conscience in every man in following the religion he believes.

For Cardinal Cushing it was a rare appearance before the council's microphones. "The church must become the champion of religious freedom," the 69-year-old cardinal insisted in his booming Latin with Bos-

Latin. The same day Auxiliary Bishop Edward E. Swannstrom of New York, director of the American Bishops' Foreign Relief Program, asked that the church help in balancing the world's wealth between rich and poor regions.

Tide of Thought
Auxiliary Bishop Philip Hannan of Washington, D.C., opposed the tide of council thought about the banning of all nuclear weapons. He defended the right of a nation to protect itself with a defensive nuclear arsenal saying the modern world Schema was inaccurate in saying all nuclear arms are uncontrollable.

Many other heads of dioceses and archdioceses, and their auxiliaries, throughout the United States also addressed their brother bishops from around the world at this council session.

Auxiliary Bishop Fulton J. Sheen of New York, director of Catholic mission fund-raising in the United States, called himself

ing of the Fox River Valley Chapter association, to be held Nov. 19 at Menasha Hotel.

Chief among his plans for the coming year are a "greater degree of cooperation between the University and the business community, and expanded participation on the part of the alumni in the work of the Association through increased membership in local chapters throughout the country," according to Ringer.

Welders Club to Hear Talk on Developments
"New Developments in Structural Welding" will be the topic of a talk by La Motte Grover, Air Reduction Sales Co., New York, following the talk, a film on structural welding entitled "Tomorrow's Trees" will be shown.

The Final Link

Open to traffic today is a gleaming ribbon of white concrete, stretching nine miles from north of Kaukauna to the city limits of De Pere, the final link of Highway 41 divided lanes connecting Fox Valley Cities to Green Bay.

This final link provides for greater safety, as drivers need not pass in face of on-coming traffic, and shortens travel time considerably in this heavily travelled area.

The cloverleaf turns at De Pere have been surfaced with "blacktop" temporarily and will be permanently laid with concrete next year.

The following firms are proud to have had a hand in forging this final link of Highway 41:

Neenah-Menasha Treatment Plant Bids $487,478 High

Bids for Secondary Facility Total
$2,173,978; 19 Alternates Asked

NEENAH — Apparent low bids opened Tuesday totaled $2,173,978 for the proposed secondary sewage treatment plant for the Twin Cities, $487,478 over the original estimate.

The bids include the general contract and four sub-contracts. The general contract bids were submitted with 19 alternate proposals. These will have to be taken into consideration in an effort to bring the cost nearer the estimated figure prior to the awarding of contracts, Vernon Zingsheim, plant superintendent, said.

$935,300 for Construction

The general contract was bid by eight contractors. The apparent low bid was submitted by Kenneth Sullivan Co., Madison, for $935,300. The high bid was made by Edward Kramer and Sons Inc., Plains, Wis. for $1,374,440.

The mechanical contract was bid by seven contractors, the low bid being submitted by Honold Co., Sheboygan, for $756,460. The contract for solids disposal was bid by Bartlett Pacific Snow Co., Cleveland, Ohio, at a low of $339,000. Three other firms entered bids for the contract.

Appleton to Air $12 Million Budget Request

Council Expected To Pass Proposal,
Established Tax Rate

A proposed $12,055,937 City of Appleton budget for 1965 will be aired tonight at a public hearing in the council chambers at the city hall.

It is expected the city council will adopt the budget and set the tax rate after the hearing which starts at 7:30 p.m.

The budget, calling for a $6,445,336 tax levy, represents a rate of $42.90 for all city purposes, including the school board's levy.

However, after adding the state and county levies the city's over-all rate — the amount property owners will have to pay for the coming year — will amount to an estimated $49.93 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

Rate Increase

The over-all rate, based on the budget to be presented tonight, will increase about $3.25.

This year the overall rate was $46.65. Taxpayers received a $3.50 state tax credit refund, which made for a net rate of $43.15.

City officials estimate the tax refund will be about the same in 1965.

The city finance committee conducted extensive interviews with heads of departments, boards and commissions when original 1965 budget requests were received several weeks ago. They totaled $12,282,453.

Committee members recommended reductions which totaled more than $200,000, including $40,000 from the $4.5 million board of education budget.

Included in the capital outlay portion of the budget is a bonding figure of $900,000 for a new municipal garage.

Construction of the garage would have no effect on the actual city budget in 1965 as it would be included in the bonded indebtedness.

Paper Institute Wins Fourth Glidden Co. Chemistry Lecture

The Institute of Paper Chemistry has been awarded a Glidden Co. lecture in chemistry for the current academic year.

The awards are given to a number of colleges and universities each year. The award provides funds for the recipient institution to bring an outstanding science lecturer to its campus.

This is the fourth lectureship to be received by the Institute in as many years.

A committee of the faculty will select a lecturer and announce his name and the date of his appearance later. Past lecturers for the award at the Institute have been Dr. Paul J. Flory, Professor of Chemistry at Stanford University; Dr. Bryce Crawford, Jr., Dean of the Graduate School and Professor of Physical Chemistry at the University of Minnesota; and Dr. H. P. Meissner, Professor of Chemical Engineering at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Industrial Engineers Conferring in Appleton On Uses of Computer

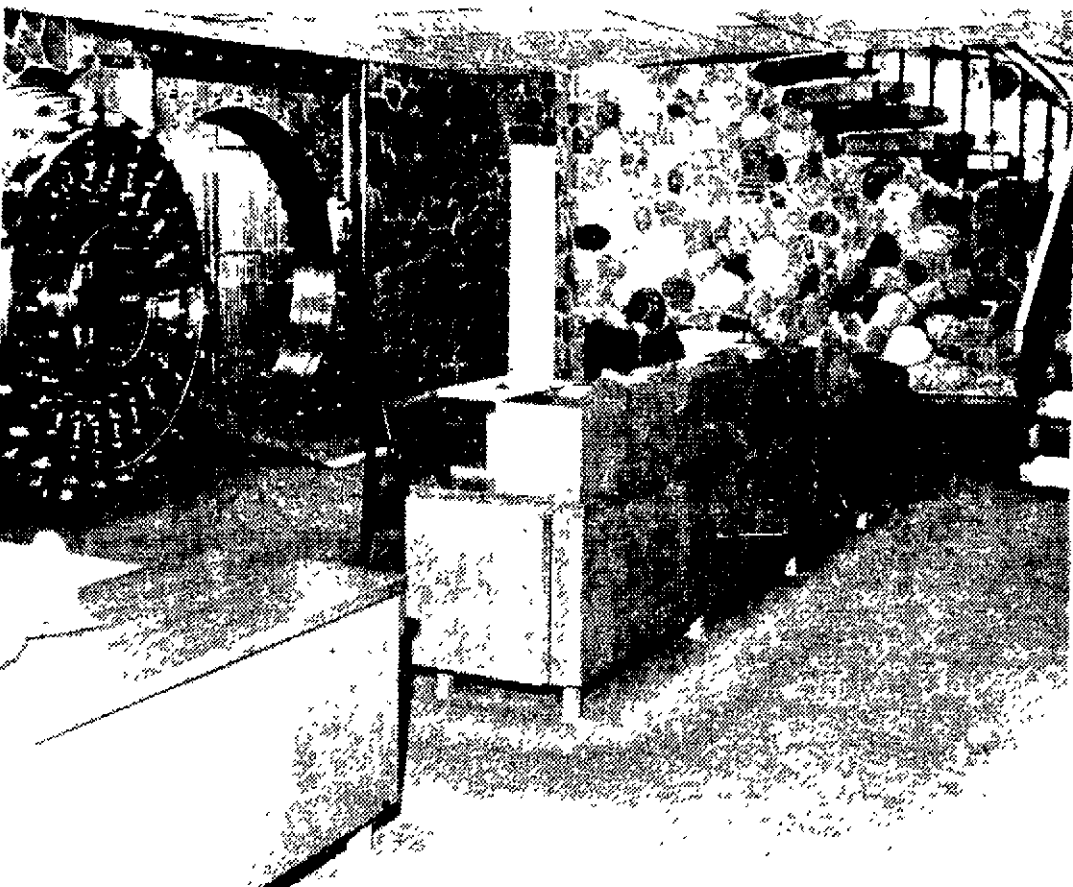

The Northeastern Wisconsin chapter of the American Institute for Industrial Engineers conference is underway at the Conway Hotel, Appleton. Theme is "How Computers Can Serve Management".

The meeting continues through Thursday. It is designed to provide management with a basic understanding of computers and how they are being used.

Thursday's program will cover specific case histories of computer applications in the fields of manufacturing, marketing, transportation, and communications.

The bank's new quarters and equipment are worth about $1.5 million, but the main safety deposit vault entrance has a 40-year-old door. "They don't build doors like this anymore," Harold C. First National Bank's New Building Open for Business

Fox Valley Newsmen Taken on Tour of College Avenue Facility

Appleton's fourth completely new bank building is in use.

The $1.5 million, 45,000-square-foot First National Bank of Appleton opened this week and today a group of Fox Valley newsmen were taken on a tour of the new building.

Designed by Childs and Smith Inc., a Chicago architectural and engineer firm, and built by Hoffman Co., Appleton general contractors, the new building, bank president Harold C. Adams says, "combines architectural and aesthetic elegance with functional design to give the bank's ever-growing number of customers the most efficient, convenient and pleasant banking services."

The bank's customers can presently view much of the new building's interior, equipment and features which are visible in the commercial area. But the private areas of the four-floor building (one floor is for office tenants) can be viewed at a public open house Dec. 5.

Perhaps the most startling feature of the bank is not included in the $1.5 million figure. It is the bank's IBM "1440 Data Processing System," which has fully automated the checking and financial system.

Adams explained the absence of pillars in the bank's lobby.

"Heavy emphasis is placed on glass and steel," he said, "and the top two floors are suspended from steel beams so that no pillars are evident at any place on the main banking floor."

Main Floor

The main floor, he said, which has entrances on College Avenue and Appleton Street, "makes possible convenient one-stop banking in our teller, special service, loan and executive areas."

A circular stairway and an automatic elevator take customers to the safe-deposit vault and community room areas on the lower level.

The area has a dozen booths and conference rooms adjacent to the vault where individuals and groups can conduct business in private. The community room, which is connected by a movable partition with the employee's lounge area, can be used by civic groups and committees for meetings.

Second Floor

The bank's second floor houses the operations department and the new trust department.

The trust department, toward the front of the building, has a large reception area and private offices and conference rooms, plus a large board of directors room.

Appleton Receives Low Bond Interest

Chicago Firm Submits Bid of
2.96 Per Cent on General Issue

The city of Appleton received National Bank, Milwaukee, a 2.96 per cent interest rate 2.99685 per cent and the Tuesday on a $1,360,000 general combination bid of a Chicago obligation bond issue to cover firm, including the Appleton the cost of a series of municipal State Bank, 2.99862 per cent improvements.

Low bidder among the 17 submitted a 3.00307 per cent financial institutions submitting rate.

Increased Activity

Harold Adams, an Appleton banker, explained after the bid-opening that there has been increased activity in the municipal bond market since the presidential election.

"This rising municipal market helps you a great deal," he told city representatives. "That is why you got a good bid on this issue today."

The city will use the bond money for storm sewer construction, $850,000; street and sanitary sewer construction, $240,000; and sewage disposal plant outlays, $120,000.

Over the 20-year period for which the bonds will be issued, the city will pay $431,000 interest rate of 2.975654 per cent.

Finance Director Donald Hassler said the city has now the 3 per cent figure. They attained 63 per cent of its authorized bonding limit.

Park Road Question on Spring Ballot

Petition Forces
Appleton to Bring Issue to Voters

A referendum question pertaining to construction and relocation of park roads will appear on Appleton's spring election ballot.

The board of public works met Tuesday and took a dim view of the direct legislation which has been proposed in petitions filed with the city council recently.

Under the law, the council must either approve the proposed direct legislation or put the matter to a referendum vote.

Some board members asked if all the signers were qualified Appleton electors.

Question Circulators

"If you want to question the petitions you will have to question the people who circulated them," City Clerk Elden Broehm said.

The law says the circulator of a petition must personally know each signer. This was doubted by several board members.

"I relied on the affidavits of the circulators," Broehm said. The clerk checked the names of the petition circulators but not those of the signers, it was indicated.

City Atty. Frederick E. Froehlich advised, in a recent opinion to the mayor and council, that the referendum would be advisory.

The petitions calling for the ordinance, which in effect would give residents of a ward power to veto a park road project in their area, were circulated after the park board and city council approved a new road in Bellaire Park.

Outagamie Retarded Children's Month Proclaimed by Fulcer

Alvin Fulcer, Kimberly, chairman of the Outagamie County Board, has proclaimed the period of Nov. 15 to Dec. 15 as "Outagamie County Retarded Children's Month."

Fulcer, in his proclamation, urged persons to "give thoughtful support and understanding to this program which will strengthen and enrich the lives of the mentally retarded."

The Outagamie County Council for Retarded Children, a member of the National Association for Retarded Children, has been operating in the county since 1957.

Fowler was arrested by Neenah police on S. Commercial Street Oct. 6. A companion charge against George A. Fowler, 50, same address, for allowing an unauthorized person and property to drive his motor vehicle, was adjourned until Dec. 2 at 10 a.m. He is out of the state on business.

Appleton Works Unit Withholds Approval Pending Investigation Of Another Type of Construction

Appleton Board of Public Works voted Tuesday to withhold final approval of plans for a new city garage after being told another type of construction could save money.

It has been estimated the garage will cost between $800,000 and $900,000, according to the present plans which call for predominantly masonry construction.

Temper flared and discussion became heated during the lengthy board meeting at which two representatives of the Stran Steel Corp. asked their type of construction be given consideration.

Aids, Al C. Fischer (15th) and John Ayers (12th) recently asked on the council floor whether a steel building had been considered by the board before it approved the preliminary plans for the garage.

Fischer and Ayers claimed the steel construction could save $180,000.

Public Works Director Robert W. Bues questioned the late change in plans, pointing out the city council had approved various stages of planning for the garage.

"We have followed all the required procedures in working up the plans for the garage and repeatedly brought the engineer in to explain things," Bues told the board.

"Several buildings have been erected here in recent years and their type of construction has never challenged like what explosion is happening here today," Bues said.

"Out House"

"I didn't hear anyone raise any question when the park board had this board approve the construction of an 'out-house' at a local park last year," Bues added.

The spokesman for Stran Steel came into contact with a spark claimed the firm could build the city garage for $5 per square foot and said there would be no sprinkling system which was question about the quality or touched off by the flames.

Kaukauna Adopts Tax Rate of $54

City Council Approves Budget for $2,253,055, Levy of $1,535,634

KAUKAUNA—The city council Tuesday night adopted a 1965 budget calling for expenditures of $2,253,055 of which $1,535,634 is to be raised by tax levy with a tax rate of $54 per $1,000 assessed valuation, a $5 increase over the 1964 rate.

The tax levy is $162,097 more than the $1,373,537 raised in 1964. The total budget is up $237,565 over the 1964 budget of $2,015,490. Receipts other than the tax levy in 1964 amounted to $843,970 compared to $842,439 in 1965, an increase of $98,460.

Cost of high and grade school operation in the 1965 budget amounts to $676,367 compared to $590,001 in 1964, an increase of $86,366 which accounts for about $3 of the $5 rate increase.

General government in the 1965 budget was set at $129,675, up $11,188 over the 1964 total of $118,487. Protection of persons and property was increased to $250,911 in 1965. Health and sanitation charges were increased $6,490 from $79,435 in

County Boards Back Revamp By Legislature

Association Says Reapportionment Not Duty of Court

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Reapportionment of Wisconsin county boards should be by act of the State Legislature rather than by decree of the Wisconsin Supreme Court, the Wisconsin County Boards Association said today.

The Association announced its view in its information organ distributed to all Wisconsin county officials on the eve of the Supreme court arguments on a petition to arrange for a reorganization of county boards on a population basis.

The court has scheduled oral arguments on the petition Friday.

Most observers believe the court will defer a final decision on the petition until the 1965 Legislature, convening in January, considers a recommendation from a special interim committee which has endorsed a classification of counties according to size and the establishment of supervisory districts on a population formula.

No Certainty
But there is no certainty the seven justices will take such a course. They have the power, under precedents of the U. S. Supreme Court, to order a county board reapportionment at their own initiative, and at a time of their own choosing, as they did a year ago in redistricting state legislative district boundaries.

The Association said it would appear in court to urge the tribunal to avoid any action that would hamper the Legislature in considering county board reorganization legislation.

It noted the Legislature set up its own county board study machinery before two Milwaukee area residents filed their reapportionment suit with the court.

operations department in the rear half of the second floor is the "1440 Data Processing System."

The system includes a check sorter, a central processing unit, a large console, a magnetic character reader and magnetic disk drives and several other features.

High Speed
Checks whizz through the computer at 193 m.p.h., then the information is sorted and stored and later printed on paper in a completely automatic system. A daily journal, kept in the computer, tells daily balances in every account. The IBM computer equipment, which is partially leased and partially owned by the bank, is worth an additional $500,000 over and above the $1.5 million figure.

The bank's third floor will be rented to tenants, but provides room for future bank expansion.

Adams said bank directors about eight years ago decided there was a need for new facilities. "We conducted a survey on possible sites and locations for our new bank," he said, "but decided we wanted to stay downtown in our present location. This meant we had to move from crowded quarters into even more crowded quarters during construction."

Explains Design
"We're proud of the way we facilitated our move," Adams said, "we tore an old building down to the north of us, constructed half of our new building, put a divider in, then tore down our old building and finished our construction by adjoining the two new sections."

Explaining the bank's modern and contemporary design, Adams said "we wanted something solid to represent strength, yet homey so the customer will say, 'I want to stay a little while longer.'"

He said the amount the bank can spend on new building construction is determined and limited by the bank's earning capacity, resources and assets.

Conferences Planned For Parents of OCTC Elementary Students

KAUKAUNA — Parent teacher conferences for parents and students enrolled in the campus elementary rooms at Outagamie County Teachers College will be held from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Thursday.

College students will continue regular classes on that day. High school graduates interested in attending the school for the second semester, starting Jan. 20, may enroll by calling or registering at the school office.

Seymour Mayor Names Interim Police Chief

Mayor Ben Truymen of Seymour has named Policeman Harland Thompson as acting chief of police until a new chief has been selected.

Thompson, who has been with the department since September, 1961, replaced former Police Chief Bernard Plumb who resigned last week to go into business.

The city council is expected to begin advertising for a new chief later this week. Policeman Will Mamerow recently joined the department as a third member of the force.

ed to $32,409 compared to $41,415 in 1963. This includes a $12,000 utility tax payment to the school district which was not made in 1964. State and county tax payments increased $5,035 from $226,420 in 1964 to $231,435 in 1965. State taxes increased $477 to $13,887 in 1965 while county taxes increased $4,559 to $217,568 in 1965.

Road Fund Down
Road fund was decreased $6,500 in 1965 from the 1964 figure of $49,750 to the new figure of $43,250. A decrease of $7,000 is anticipated in street maintenance. The sewer fund was increased from $81,000 to $158,800 with sewer construction accounting for $75,800 of the total $77,800 increase from 1964 to 1965.

Bonded Indebtedness payments in 1965 amount to $174,257, a decrease of $27,006 from the $201,263 paid in 1964. Poor fund payments in 1964 amounted to $15,600 compared to an anticipated $15,285 in 1965. Police pension fund deficits remained at $1,100 and firemen pension fund deficits were decreased from $8,500 to $7,000.

City cost for operating the vocational school in 1964 was $51,297 compared to $46,937 in 1965, a decrease of $4,360. A total of $45,100 was appropriated for library operations in 1965 compared to $40,850 in 1964. The council cut $1,000 from the original library request earlier.

Joseph Steger, library board chairman, asked the council to restate the $1,000 in view of the $3,334 aid being made by the county. This was not estimated in the original budget and library board members felt it necessary to hire consultants and begin long-range planning for library expansion. Board members were advised to check back with the council if they found themselves running short later next year.

Other Receipts
Receipts other than property tax anticipated in 1965 amount to $842,430, an increase of $190,460. Of this amount the budget lists opening fund balance of $126,243 for 1965, an increase of $83,086 over the opening fund balance of $43,157 at the start of 1964. Other increases anticipated include a $4,000 increase in local utility tax to $66,000 in 1965, a $2,500 increase in state utility tax to $24,500 and an $11,000 income tax increase to $290,000 in 1965.

Telephone tax is expected to be up $1,000 to $12,000; special assessments on the tax roll are expected to be up $2,000 to $33,000 and advance collection on special assessments are expected to be up $42,000 to $102,000 in 1965. Minor increases are expected in liquor license fees, state bridge and street aids, gas auto tax, poor receipts, sewer fund receipts and other miscellaneous receipts.

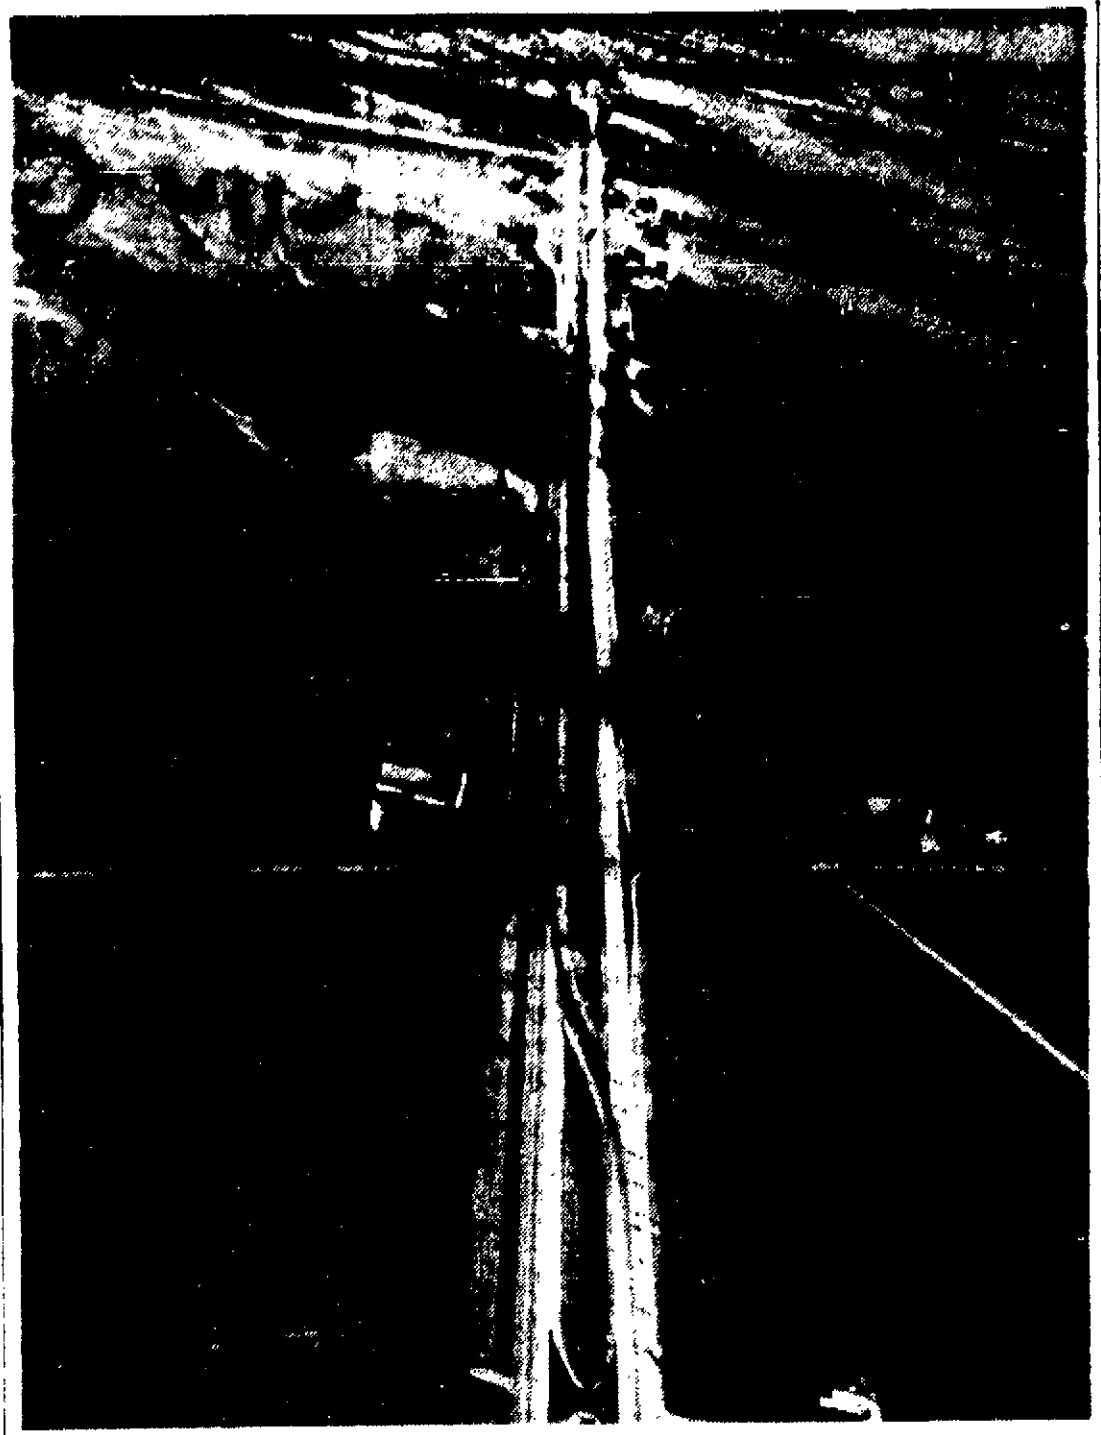

Nelson Questions Proposal to Build Minnesota Plant

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Public Works Committee was asked by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., Tuesday to investigate a proposal to build a $60 million electric power plant on the St. Croix River near Stillwater, Minn., and opposite Hudson, Wis.

Nelson asked Sen. Pat McCarran, D-Mich., committee chairman, to authorize formal public hearings before a subcommittee on air and water pollution. Nelson is a member of the subcommittee.

Conservationists contend the Northern States Power Co. would pollute the water and air in a prime recreation area of students enrolled in the campus elementary rooms at Outagamie County Teachers College will be held from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Thursday.

Nelson added that the hearings should be held soon because northern States has asked Minnesota state agencies for prompt consideration of its application to build the plant.

New England Stays in Grip Of Drought

CHICAGO (AP) — Moderate precipitation dampened the dry Midwest Tuesday, but barren New England remained in the grip of its most prolonged drought in history.

The water shortage in the New England areas became more critical. Officials feared the supply would be depleted within weeks.

The situation was different in Oklahoma, where light rains continued after downpours which caused floods in several areas.

Intermittent rains which began over the weekend continued in the eastern third of Kansas and adjacent Missouri. The rains eased a record autumn siege of dry, hot weather.

Colder temperatures brought locally heavy snow squalls to most of Michigan, the heaviest around Lake Michigan and Lake Huron. The snow was expected in Detroit tonight.

A thin blanket of snow covered sections of northern Indiana Tuesday morning. Rain continued to fall on parched rural areas. It was the first substantial precipitation in Indiana in more than a month.

Prices were irregularly higher in fairly active trading on the American Stock Exchange. Corporate bonds were unchanged to narrowly mixed. U.S. government bonds were mostly unchanged.

storage area, we should excel with our type of construction," he said.

Tom Orblison, representing his firm, told the board he had been hired to design a municipal garage to meet the city's needs and had done so.

Board members said their action considering another kind of construction was not meant to be reflection on the Orblison firm. It is under contract to the city on an hourly fee basis.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell recommended the board not act on the final plans for 30 days, and during that time it go to other cities and inspect municipal garages. He said the board would look at concrete and steel-constructed buildings.

The board unanimously approved his suggestion.

Suffers Serious Burns in Playing Game of 'Chicken'

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — A 13-year-old boy who entered a hospital Tuesday night with infection of multiple burns on his right arm told police they were self-inflicted during a game of "chicken."

"Never in my experience as a police officer have I seen anything like it," said Patrolman Bill Hannon. The boy had suffered a dozen third-degree burns on his arm.

Hannon said the youth told of playing the game with a companion at a roller skating rink Saturday night. He said they placed a lighted cigarette between their bare arms to see which would jerk his arm away first. Hannon said they also put burning cigarettes on their arms to see who could stand the pain the longest.

Hannon said the other participant had not been located.

Missing Patient Being Sought

77-Year-Old Man Walked Away From Waupaca Hospital

WEYAUWEGA — A search continues today for a 77-year-old patient who wandered away from Waupaca County Hospital Monday morning.

Hospital staff members and members of county and local law enforcement groups are combing the woods for Adolph Drake.

David Nolan, superintendent of the hospital said Tuesday it might be difficult locating Drake because he has a record of disappearing from the hospital and is very self sufficient in the woods. This is the fourth time in several years that Drake has left the hospital for the woods, Nolan said. Once he was gone for several months.

Sheriff's department authorities have joined the search and have given notification to those persons who might see Drake. He has very few relatives or known friends.

Nolan said Drake is a patient who requires only minimum care at the hospital and is a good patient except for his tendency to wander occasionally.

Monday Drake opened a window on the second floor of the hospital, forced out a screen and left by way of a fire escape.

Bergstrom to Show Paper Machine

Open House to Mark Completion Expansion Project Begun in 1963

NEENAH — Bergstrom Paper Co. will hold a public open house of its new Number Five paper machine addition Thursday, Dec. 3.

The open house will mark the culmination of a project which began with groundbreaking Sept. 3, 1963, and concluded with the making of the first salable paper Oct. 27 of this year.

The new facility is adjacent to Bergstrom's paper mill downtown.

Visiting hours will be continuous from 1 to 8 p.m.

Because of the industrial environment, women will need to wear walking shoes. Children under 12 will not be admitted. The tour is expected to take about one-half hour.

Tour guides will meet visitors at the center door on the south (or Main Street) side of the new structure. This door leads to the basement of Number Five building, which will be the initial phase of the tour.

Second phase of the tour will take visitors to the main floor and the back side of the new paper machine. Phase three will include an impressive view of the "wet" end of the new machine from the mezzanine.

The last phase of the tour will allow visitors to walk the full length of Number Five's front side. The tour will conclude at the "dry" end of the machine, in the vicinity of which will be an exhibit of Bergstrom products, a non-operating model of Number Five machine and a refreshment stand.

The area between Bergstrom's canal. The new structure is a composite of reinforced concrete, steel framing and face brick. Concrete pillars at intervals along the building exterior help to visually minimize the extreme length of the addition.

The new fourdrinier machine, with its 192-inch-wide wide wire, forms a trimmed web of paper 172 inches wide at an initial speed of 1,500 feet per minute. It is designed to achieve 2,000 feet per minute. Estimated average daily production expected of the new machine is about 150 tons.

The new machine, officially dedicated Monday in honor of Nathan H. Bergstrom, company board chairman, was manufactured by Valley Iron Works Corp. of Appleton. General contractor was C. R. Meyer and Sons Construction Co., Oshkosh.

Jackie Cooper Adds to Laurels as Executive

He's Production Boss for Screen Gems, One of Television's Giant Businesses

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The name seems incongruous amid the plush spaciousness of his executive suite. He is producing boss of one of television's biggest enterprises — $64 million gross business last year. But he is still called Jackie Cooper.

For six months, the onetime "Skiy" has been functioning as studio head for Screen Gems, the television giant that produces "Hazel," "The Donna Reed Show," "Farmer's Daughter" and the hit of the 1964-65 season, "Bewitched."

Works for Variety

"We'll have between six and a dozen pilots ready for submission for next season's shows," Cooper declared. "These are shows in which we have pride. I don't expect all of them to sell."

Col. Glenn Goes Back to School

EL TORO, Calif. (AP) — It's back to school for Col. John H. Glenn, Jr., the first American astronaut to orbit the earth.

Glenn checked in at the El Toro Marine Air Station Tuesday for a two-week refresher course in flight training. Purpose of the course is to restore his status as an unrestricted pilot.

Glenn has been grounded since a bathroom fall earlier this year impaired his sense of balance.

Glenn plans to retire from the Marine Corps in January to enter private business. He will continue working part time for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Chamber Music Has Appeal for Artists

Almo Trio Really Threesome of Soloists, Appearing in Harper Hall Friday Night

BY DON VORPAHL

When highly accomplished concert artists set aside solo careers in order to play chamber music together, one may reasonably assume they find a musical satisfaction that more than compensates for any sacrifice of prestige or lucrative financial gain.

This assumption is warmly confirmed by members of the Alma Trio, who will open the Lawrence University Chamber Music Series with a concert at 8:15 p.m. Friday, in Harper Hall.

Andor Toth, violinist, Gabor Rejto, cellist, and Adolph Baller, pianist, speak glowingly of the appeal of chamber music, despite the fact that each is well known in Europe and America as a concert artist in his own right.

Each a Soloist

Toth, for example, has been soloist for the Ballet Theatre Orchestra, and spent the years 1959-62 appearing extensively as soloist with major orchestras in this country and abroad.

Rejto has soloed with leading orchestras in Vienna, Budapest, Warsaw and Rome. His recitals have been given in many of the European capitals.

Baller had a solo career as early as age 12 when he appeared with the Vienna Philharmonic and Vienna Symphony Orchestras, and at the Salzburg Festival.

Enjoy Trio Work

But today, each of the three gravitates toward the sophisticated chamber music art, and particularly, trio performance. "Trios are especially ingratiating music," says Rejto. "Ifidous increase of school music in one considers our basic repertoire—Beethoven's eight, five or more of Mozart, Schubert's two, Schumann's D minor, Mendelssohn's two, three of Brahms, one of Ravel, and a few more—they have tremendous variety of mood and style, but all are delightful, lyrical free-flowing music."

Baller adds, "Trios are very different from quartets. Each part is freer, and more like a solo, yet the three solo parts are interlaced in beautiful contrasts and balances."

He continues, "There is also quite a difference in performance. Quartets demand a more rigid discipline, for one is constantly having to blend his tone with all the rest. There is a definite contrast to the strings means that each part stands out more distinctly, and is more individual in its give and take."

Differ From Quartets

The three artists note that just as they find great satisfaction in chamber music performance, so do their audiences, and particularly those in colleges and universities. They know whereof they speak, since each is involved in collegiate music.

Toth directs chamber music at the University of Colorado; Rejto heads the string department of the University of Southern California, and Baller is on the faculty of the San Francisco Conservatory.

"College is an ideal time to develop an understanding of fine music for small ensembles," says Rejto, "and there is certainly nothing better for life-long enjoyment." The tremendous increase of school music in the U. S. is a valid foundation for such activity, he adds.

Toth says, "There is also a great need for new composers to write music for chamber music groups—music of our own time and thought. And the only way we shall get much good writing is to have a lot of activity in this field. The increase of amateur ensemble playing of the best music, old and new, would do more than almost anything to enrich the musical life of any country. And besides, it's fun to play!"

The Alma Trio's enthusiasm may be one of its strongest characteristics, along with an acknowledged mastery of its art form. One further item is worthy of note, the presence of an extraordinary instrument to lend flavor to the Trio's concerts.

Rejto plays on one of the finest cellos in America, a superb instrument made in Venice in 1721 by Domenico Montagnana, a pupil of Stradivari. Montagnana is considered one of the greatest cello makers of all time, and his instruments are exceedingly rare and valuable. Rejto's instrument was owned at the turn of the 20th century by the celebrated French cellist, Andre Hekking. It was later in the Wanamaker collection, then belonging to Alfred Wallenstein, and played by him when he was first cellist of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra. Rejto acquired the instrument in 1949. "A fine instrument has its own destiny," he said recently. "By its own excellence it summons one artist after another to release its voice and allow it to speak."

The Montagnana will speak, together with Toth's violin and Baller's piano, for the first time in Appleton on the Lawrence series. On the Alma Trio's program will be the "Trio in E major, K 542," by Mozart, the Bartok "Sonata No. 1 for violin and piano," Beethoven's cello and piano "Sonata in A major, Op. 69," and Schubert's "Trio, Op. 99."

The Trio's performance is the first of five on the current Lawrence series Season tickets and single admissions are available only at the new University box office in the Music-Drama Center, 115 N. Park Ave.

Population Way Ahead of Food Supply

Improved Methods
Of Farming Don't Pace World's Need

BY JAMES M. LONG
ROME (AP) — Skyrocketing population has outstripped the increase in world food production in the past 12 months. Mankind had less per person to eat, and almost everywhere food costs more.

This was the grim picture painted by the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization
(FAO) in its 1964 annual report.
It came against a background of recent food riots in teeming India and the lengthening shadow of hunger over much of the rest of the world.

The actual over-all balance between population gain and food production increase may even be darker than FAO described. Its report contained no figures for Communist China, which has almost a fourth of the world's population.

Some Increases

The report said it appeared there were some increases in food production in mainland China during 1963-64, but it was unlikely the increases had kept abreast of China's population gain of 15 million a year.

Soviet Russia, with its massive population, had actual food production decreases in the past year.

The FAO report for the year ended July 15, 1964, said world population had increased 2 per cent but food production had gone up slightly less than that.

Much more significant than the single year comparison was the fact that "for five years now there has been no increase in world agricultural production per capita," the report added.

The past year, however, was the first time FAO has reported production gains actually below population increase.

Eating Well

The increases in production were mostly in North America, 4 per cent, and Oceania, 3 per cent, both regions already eating well.

In developing regions, where malnutrition is wider spread, the gains were described as "very slight" — only 1 per cent in Latin America and 2 per cent in the Far East, excluding China.

The world's fish catch was estimated at about 3 per cent more than in 1962 but there was "a further slight reduction during 1963-64 in the over-all level of unsold stocks of agricultural products." Stocks of wheat and dairy products were lower, but those of cotton and coarse grains rose.

Retail Prices

FAO said that in 74 of the 85 countries for which statistics were available, the cost of living in 1963 was, on the average, higher than in 1962, largely because of an increase in retail food prices.

There were some decreases.
FAO said food was 8 per cent cheaper in Nigeria, 6 per cent in Sierra Leone, 4 per cent in Tanzania and Burma and 3 per cent in Kenya.

But FAO said inflation sent food prices up by more than 100 per cent in Indonesia, 68 per cent in the Congo, 67 per cent in Brazil, 49 per cent in Chile, 39 per cent in Colombia, 33 per cent in Korea, 23 per cent in Argentina, 17 per cent in Iceland, 15 per cent in Uruguay and 10 per cent in Spain.

Soviet Russia and Communist countries of eastern Europe, striving hard for crop increases, apparently suffered serious setbacks because of unfavorable weather, FAO reported.

Probe of Minutemen Requested in House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities was asked Tuesday by a member of Congress to investigate the organization known as the Minutemen.

Rep. Charles S. Joelson, D-N.J., said the Minutemen is a secret, armed organization that favors "forcing governmental policies by violent means."

"In my opinion nothing can be more un-American," than that Joelson said in a letter to Rep.
Edwin E. Willis, D-La., chairman of the committee.

The Water Case Is Serious

The Wisconsin Public Service Commission directive to the City of Appleton to provide water service outside its corporate limits to a church being constructed in the Town of Menasha has raised a serious question as to whether the city's "home rule" rights are being infringed upon.

If the PSC order stands, there is danger that others outside the city will demand Appleton water service, thus allowing the town or village in which they reside to circumvent their responsibility to provide adequate municipal services to its residents without putting the squeeze on the city.

We do not subscribe to the defeatist attitude of the city attorney, who in his reluctance to follow Common Council orders and take the case to court, cited a 1954 Supreme Court decision in which the City of Milwaukee was required to supply water to a firm having a portion of its warehouse in Milwaukee and the remainder in the adjacent City of Glendale. In this case, the PSC ruled that because Milwaukee was serving other industries in the area, it had an obligation to let the firm hook on to its water line.

Appleton's case is somewhat similar to Milwaukee's but there are some differences which should be called to the attention of the PSC and the court. It must be remembered the commission arrived at its decision on the basis of testimony taken at a public hearing here last summer. Appleton did not present its case at that hearing and is suffering for it now.

We cannot help but feel there is sufficient evidence to present to the court to have it request the PSC to review or modify the decision. It might be noted that since its 1954 decision, Milwaukee has been in the courts several times to defend itself, with success, from so-called "water piracy." "The city has the right to determine whether it will or will not provide (water) service," is the stand taken by the Milwaukee city attorney.

In addition to opening the floodgates for a rash of requests for water service outside the city, the PSC decision may also be a thorn in Appleton's plans for a pipeline to Lake Michigan or Lake Winnebago. Under the existing decision, what would prevent every Tom, Dick and Harry along the pipeline route from wanting to hook on. This water situation is a serious one and surely deserves more attention than it has been receiving.

Nuclear Subs Visit Japan

As expected, there have been left-wing demonstrations in Japan against the visits of United States nuclear submarines to ports in Japan. But the outcries have not been very loud, no one has been seriously injured and even the black uniformed students who hurl themselves against police lines from time to time seem to lack the exuberance of youth. Many of the demonstrators merely seem to be going through the motions as something expected of them but without much enthusiasm.

It may be that even the Japanese, the only people in the world to feel the awful horror of atomic attack, are beginning to shrug off the constant threat of world-wide nuclear war. And this is a psychological reaction as well as an intellectual one. One can live with intense terror only a short time without either going to pieces or becoming inured. And most of us are becoming inured.

Of course, such complacency is dangerous. The belief that merely because nuclear war would be so catastrophic that therefore it is impossible is not logical. Possessing nuclear power may make its owners more cautious and we are hopeful this attitude will spread to the Red Chinese. But there is always the danger that some egotistical demagogue will risk annihilation by striking the first dreadful blow. And an assumption that nuclear war just won't come also leads world leaders to forget the importance of trying to find a way to prevent it.

Nevertheless it is more healthy that the previous resort to panic about fall-out, accidental explosions, escalation of every border fracas has abated. The "demos" in Japan have little of the flavor of the virulent anti-American riots of only a few years ago. It appears that these may have been part of the growing pains as Japan emerged from a conquered and occupied nation to responsible independence.

Part of such responsibility means a realistic look at the world today. While the nuclear submarines may be visiting Japan to give their crews rest and relaxation, they also serve to make the Japanese aware that nuclear power does exist, and is a world problem they cannot forget simply because they may want to blot out the memory of Nagasaki and Hiroshima.

The Roots of Delinquency

A husband and wife team of criminologists at the Harvard Law School have made a study of more than 300 boys and have come up with what they feel to be a relatively accurate way of predicting future delinquency.

Professor Sheldon Glueck and Dr. Eleanor Glueck defined a delinquent for their study as one who repeats acts considered criminal if performed by anyone over 18, or who shows persistent truancy and associations with immoral people. The youngsters studied came from an area of New York with a high rate of juvenile delinquency and they included white, Negro and Puerto Rican boys.

The rate of predictability was quite remarkable especially when ten years of various events subsequently befell the subjects. For those listed ten years ago as potentially delinquent, 85 per cent followed through. Twenty-five of the boys were given a 50-50 chance of going wrong and nine did while sixteen did not. For those considered highly unlikely to become delinquent, 95 per cent did not.

There were three major factors involved in coming to these conclusions, the supervision of the boy by his mother, the mother's discipline, and the amount of family togetherness. Originally the father's relationship to his son had been considered but so many of the boys under observation did not have fathers at home that this factor had to be discarded.

Mothers of boys at the first grade level, who were considered unlikely to become serious problems later, kept a close eye on the youngsters' activities, and knew where they were and with whom. Discipline was kindly but firm and the mother set limits of behavior and stuck to them. The family as a whole, with or without a father, did things together, enjoyed being together and accepted each other's roles within the family unit. To the degree that these factors were missing or faulty, the child was more likely to become delinquent.

The study emphasizes once again the importance of early training in the home. It also indicates that parents who are able to handle six year olds with patience, understanding, love, compassion and responsibility, seem to be able to do the same as the youngsters mature. The success at an early age compounds itself just as failures pile upon failures to develop the delinquent.

Coach N. A. Calder, head of the physical education department of the Menasha public schools, retired as basketball coach at Menasha High School after 16 seasons. He started coaching football and basketball in 1923 and was to continue as football coach.

Leslie Ansoorge, who came to the high school faculty in 1938, was named the new basketball coach. Ansoorge came to Menasha from Marion where he established an outstanding record. Both men were graduated from LaCrosse State Teachers College.

Abraham Sigman was elected president of the Appleton Civic Association, succeeding the Rev. Robert K. Bell. The chief object of the association was to obtain a supervised recreational program for Appleton in cooperation with the board of education and city council.

The Roosevelt Theater players at the Appleton junior high school presented their third one-act play. Taking part in the mystery-comedy, "The Spider," were Gloria Enger, Laura Belle DeLong, Rose Ann Gmeiner, Elaine Hamilton, Faye Rosenbohm, Marian Van Bommel and Bonnie Van Handel. Shirley Buesing was student director.

Another March on Capitol Set For Opening of New Congress

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN AND PAUL SCOTT

Bayard Rustin, deputy director of the 1963 Civil Rights March on Washington, is organizing a new series of potentially explosive demonstrations — including a massive one at the Capitol.

The self-proclaimed "lonely genius" behind the Negro marches is arranging to have 25,000 demonstrators on hand when Congress convenes January 4.

Other massive protests involving 50,000 to 100,000 persons will follow in the nation's largest cities, including New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Boston, Atlanta, St. Louis and Los Angeles.

The dramatic Washington rally is being timed for the opening of the 89th Congress to enable civil rights groups to express public opposition to the seating of legislators from states where Negroes claim they were unable to vote in the recent election.

If the backing of labor, peace and religious groups can be obtained for the blocking of these legislators from the House and Senate, the demonstrators will try to seal off the Capitol with a human wall, despite a federal law prohibiting demonstrations on the grounds.

Otherwise, the massive Washington rally will be held as near the Capitol as the law and physical arrangements will permit.

These and other details of his plans ending the election moratorium on demonstrations were highlighted by Rustin in an unpublicized meeting of civil rights leaders in Washington following the Presidential election.

THE NEW STRATEGY

In outlining his strategy, Rustin charged that, "Senators and Congressmen from the states where Negroes were denied their right to vote were elected illegally and should not be allowed to take their seats when Congress convenes in January."

"We will have 25,000 demonstrators at the Capitol when Congress meets in January," Rustin boasted. "This will dramatically express our resentment over the seating of these members of Congress. If we can obtain assurances of support from leaders of union, peace and religious groups, we will physically block the entrance of the Capitol to these legislators."

Rustin stressed that the Negroes' fight was shifting from a "civil rights revolution" to what he termed a "social and political revolution in the U.S., declaring:

"One of the first tasks we must tackle is the anti-poverty program. In order to get a program that will help us bring about the social changes necessary in this country, demonstrations of 50,000 to 100,000 will be staged at city halls of most of our big cities. These demonstrations will be carried out to force local officials to put pressure on Washington for the changes we are proposing."

"Sargent Shriver (director of the administration's anti-poverty program) must go. He does not understand nor is he in sympathy with our cause. Shriver is immoral when he claims he can give our youth vocational training in his work camps. All he wants to do is to get our boys off the streets. This is not the solution to unemployment and the delinquency problem."

PAY AS YOU LEARN

In place of these youth training camps, Rustin proposed a multi-billion dollar federal education program under which all students from the first through the twelfth grades would be paid to go to school.

"This is done in the Soviet Union: why not here?" challenged Rustin. "We are the chosen people of God to lead this great social revolution and redeem this nation, so we as Negroes should have a major voice in how our children will be educated."

Rustin revealed that the civil rights organizations are seeking an alliance with what he termed the "poor and unemployed whites," stating:

"Many of us may feel that we have had a hard fight in our struggle for civil rights, but in the years to come we will look back on our great social and political revolution and realize that the period between 1955 and 1964 was our easiest period in the social revolution. The fight has only just begun."

"We won in Birmingham and Washington only because we were able to split the white power structure. We must continue to do so. This is why I am advocating that we start now in winning the support of the poor whites in this country."

"In Chicago we have set up a pilot project to work among the poor whites in the tenement section and we are planning another in the poverty stricken Appalachia area. We plan to organize these people into powerful groups."

"I am a political actionist who believes that mass demonstrations are among our most powerful weapons in the social and political revolution, but we can't win unless we have the wholehearted support of the trade unions, the unemployed and the church groups."

Rustin, who once served as an organizer for the Young Communist League, urged full backing for the demonstrations on the ground that "the President and Congress are susceptible to the influence of various forms of pressure, including demonstrations."

"If President Johnson is sincere in his promises to us," said Rustin, "he will welcome pressure from our group and our leverage to force Congress to act on social legislation. But even if President Johnson is not sincere, he will still be forced to act if we apply enough pressure at all levels local, state and national."

Wisconsin Report

Industrial Expansion Will be Main Theme Of Knowles' First Term

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON—Heads of state administrations strive to identify their tenure with main themes of topical interest, and recent governors who have won by uncomfortably close electoral margins have been the most anxious to do so.

Former Gov. Nelson perhaps provided the best example—and surely the most successful example—when he brought in his popular outdoor resources and recreation program to take the voters' mind off the fact that he was having budget and taxing troubles. Gov. Reynolds presumably had something of the same sort in mind, aside from the merits of the question, when he fashioned his big and dramatic proposal for a huge new super-highway program a year ago.

It may be deducted that there is some design of political imagery involved in the main keynotes thus far enunciated by Gov.-Elect Warren P. Knowles on the subject of Wisconsin economic expansion and job multiplication and industrial growth.

GOOD REACTION

Even as nobody was inclined to quarrel with Nelson when he talked about providing more parks and public recreation facilities and protecting the wilderness resources, nobody is likely to object to the thoroughly desirable goal of economic growth of his state.

All other considerations aside, it will probably be difficult even for the most wary and hostile Democrat to heckle, for example, when the new Republican governor also ties in a proposal for some highway improvement acceleration with his general program of improving the Wisconsin industrial climate.

For everybody who remembers the Reynolds speeches and publicity of a year ago in any degree will also remember that the Democratic administration justified its own huge highway bonding program on the assertion that it was essential to the development of commerce and industry.

The Wisconsin Republican gubernatorial campaign of this year was planned more carefully than any of recent memory. Thoughtful politicians who had studied the defeat of the party in three successive tests since 1958 resolved to blueprint a design this year. Among the little known preparatory steps were studies of the successes of Republican administrations elsewhere in the country which included, notably, a visit to Gov. James Rhodes of Ohio by a group of Knowles' advisors many months ago.

Rhodes is a hard-shell politician, according to all accounts. His advice was terse. Campaign on the pledge to expand industry and trade and the enrichment of job opportunities, he said. Knowles did. Evidently he believes it was one of the winning elements of his strategy, for he has already made it clear that the theme will continue as the dominant one in his first term administration.

WHAT?

The task force of expert advisors already announced was a strategic success, measured in the early publicity impact, at least. The Knowles personal statement that he will strive to attain the repeal of the remaining personal property tax levy, meanwhile, shows his own realistic grasp of the facts of fiscal life. There are businessmen dreaming about relief of income taxes, no doubt. But there is no real hope of achieving that. Moreover, the personal property tax repeal will probably be of greater value in improving the state's national reputation, for that levy is notoriously arbitrary and discriminatory.

New directions in the State Department of Resource Development are already forecast. There may be some new vocational education service. There will be the installation of men of more moderate views in some of the key regulatory agencies. If the problem of Wisconsin competition for industrial growth among the states is one of reputation, and attitude, as this reporter has believed, Gov.-Elect Knowles has opportunities for significant change at hand.

Strictly Personal

We Remember Only What We Want To

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

It makes sense for someone to say that he has poor vision or poor hearing, but it makes on a ball team of a dozen years ago. A child has a fantastic memory for such statistics.

Harris

no sense to speak of "poor memory." A memory is not a thing like an eye or an ear or a muscle that can be developed by exercise.

What we call "memory," in fact, consists of three processes: learning, retaining, and remembering. We can do little, if anything, about the last two; but we can improve the learning process.

My complaint, like that of many persons, is that I have a "poor memory" for people's names. But I have an excellent memory for other matters, and can recall whole stanzas of poetry I haven't thought of for 20 years.

The reason is simple. When I learned the poetry, I was interested. It had meaning and appeal to me, and I was highly motivated to learn it. When I meet new people, however, I often don't even hear the name. How can I remember it when I haven't bothered to learn it in the first place?

We learn what we like, and we remember what has relevance to our concerns. A man with poor memory in other directions can recall all the batting averages of all the players

Learning how to learn is the only way to improve one's memory. And learning how to learn depends mostly upon the motivation behind it. It is not as such an intellectual faculty, as an emotional attitude. Most children fail to learn subjects in school because they find the teaching dull, not because the pupils themselves are dull.

Oswald Jacoby, the bridge expert, can take a fast look at his 13 cards, stick them in his pocket, and play them one by one without ever looking at the hand again — and while playing a game of gin rummy on the side! And all bridge players of his class can perfectly reconstruct the 52 cards in hands they played years ago, while I can hardly remember a hand I played last night.

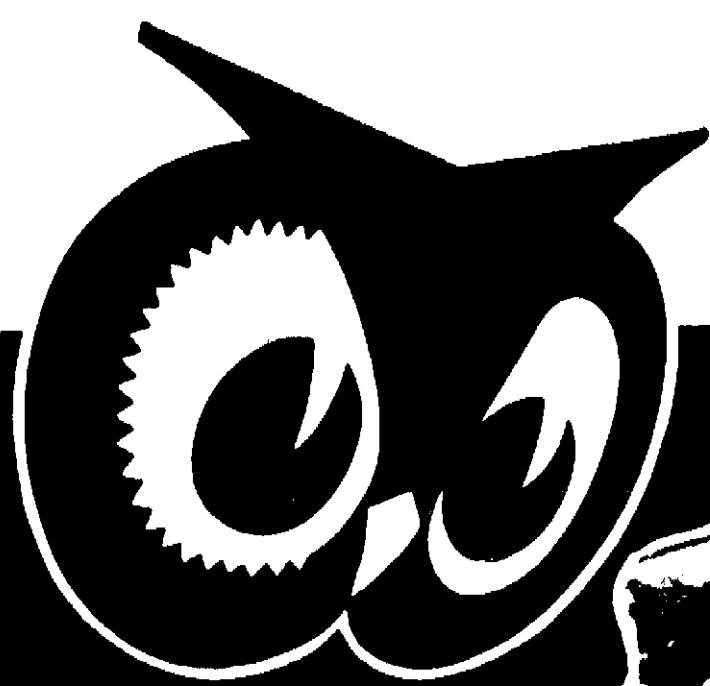

This does not mean their "memory" is better than mine, for I can still recite all 100 and more stanzas of "The Ballad of Reading Gaol" that I learned when I was 16. Wanting to learn something badly enough is the only spur to developing the memory.

Blindness No Hindrance to State Attorney

David Murrell Has Won Ten Straight Cases Before Court

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Asst. Atty. Gen. David Murrell has won 10 straight cases before Kentucky's Court of Appeals. That's probably not an incredible record for many attorneys, but Murrell, blind since he was a child, has been out of law school only about a year. Murrell, 27, has never orally argued a case before Kentucky's highest court, which rarely calls for oral presentations, and he's eager to get into a courtroom. "I'm looking forward to getting out and doing trial work — sort of face-to-face combat," he says. Murrell has done exceptionally well in handling criminal and alcoholic beverage cases and writing legal opinions, says Atty. Gen. Robert Matthews. "I'm impressed with him," Matthews says. "He has a firm grasp of the legal situation and a good legal mind."

Lawrence Varsity Will Clash With Freshmen Friday Vikings' Rusk Has 5 Lettermen Available for 1964-5 Team

BY TERRY GALVIN Post-Crescent Staff Writer
Coach Clyde Rusk will unveil his 1964-65 Lawrence University varsity basketball team in a pre-season tuneup against the Viking freshman unit at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Alexander Gym.
The pre-season clash is open to the public with no admission charge.
Rusk is working with a squad of 11 men, including four lettermen from last year's Midwest Conference entry. The Vikings recorded an overall 8-14 mark in '63-64.
The biggest loss is 3-year star Joel Ungrodt. Ungrodt rewrote Lawrence (then College) University record books. The Wausau product holds the school's career, game and season scoring marks.
Other lettermen lost from last year's unit include Steve Nault and Luke Groser. The three comprised one-half of the top six men on the Viking squad last season.

Lettermen Back
Lettermen in uniform for Rusk's second season at Lawrence are Gordon Bond, 6-2 senior from Crystal Lake, Ill., Earl Hoover, 6-4 senior from Zion, Ill., Rick Koos, 5-11 junior from Sheboygan, and Tom Steinmetz, 6-2 junior from Menasha. Bill Prange, a letterman on the '62-63 squad but out most of last season with a football injury, is also on this year's edition.
Rusk looks to a much improved rebounding and defensive team over last year's unit. The scoring potential of the individuals will be fairly even.
Top candidates for starting berths against the freshman team include Hoover, Mike O'Fallon, Steinmetz and Jim Swanson in the front line with Bond, Kroos or Richard Schultz in the backcourt.
O'Fallon is a 6-4 sophomore from Westchester, Ill. Swanson, an Appleton High grad, stands 6-8 and, according to Rusk, has shown tremendous improvement. Schultz, at 5-11, hails from Milwaukee Washington.

Others expected to see action for the Blue and White are Phil Strong, a much-improved 6-2 forward from Menasha; Bruce Elliott, 5-10 guard from Westchester with tremendous desire and hustle and Bill Benowicz, 6-3 front liner from Chicago. Benowicz reported to the squad shortly after the conclusion of football.
The varsity and freshman teams open the regular season at home against Stevens Point Dec. 1.
The freshman quintet is led by former AHS standout Brian Bock. Tom Calloway, another ex-AHS product, is also expected to see action Friday. Gary Hietpas, all-Fox River Valley Conference guard while in a Teror uniform last season, is recuperating from a football injury and is expected to report shortly.
Other top frosh prospects include Don Brooke (6-1), Bill Buerstette (6-5 Manitowoc native), Dennis Kirschoff, Bob Krohn, Steve Simon (6-3) Dick Witte (5-11), Steve Wilson (6-2), and Menash's Pat Kenney.

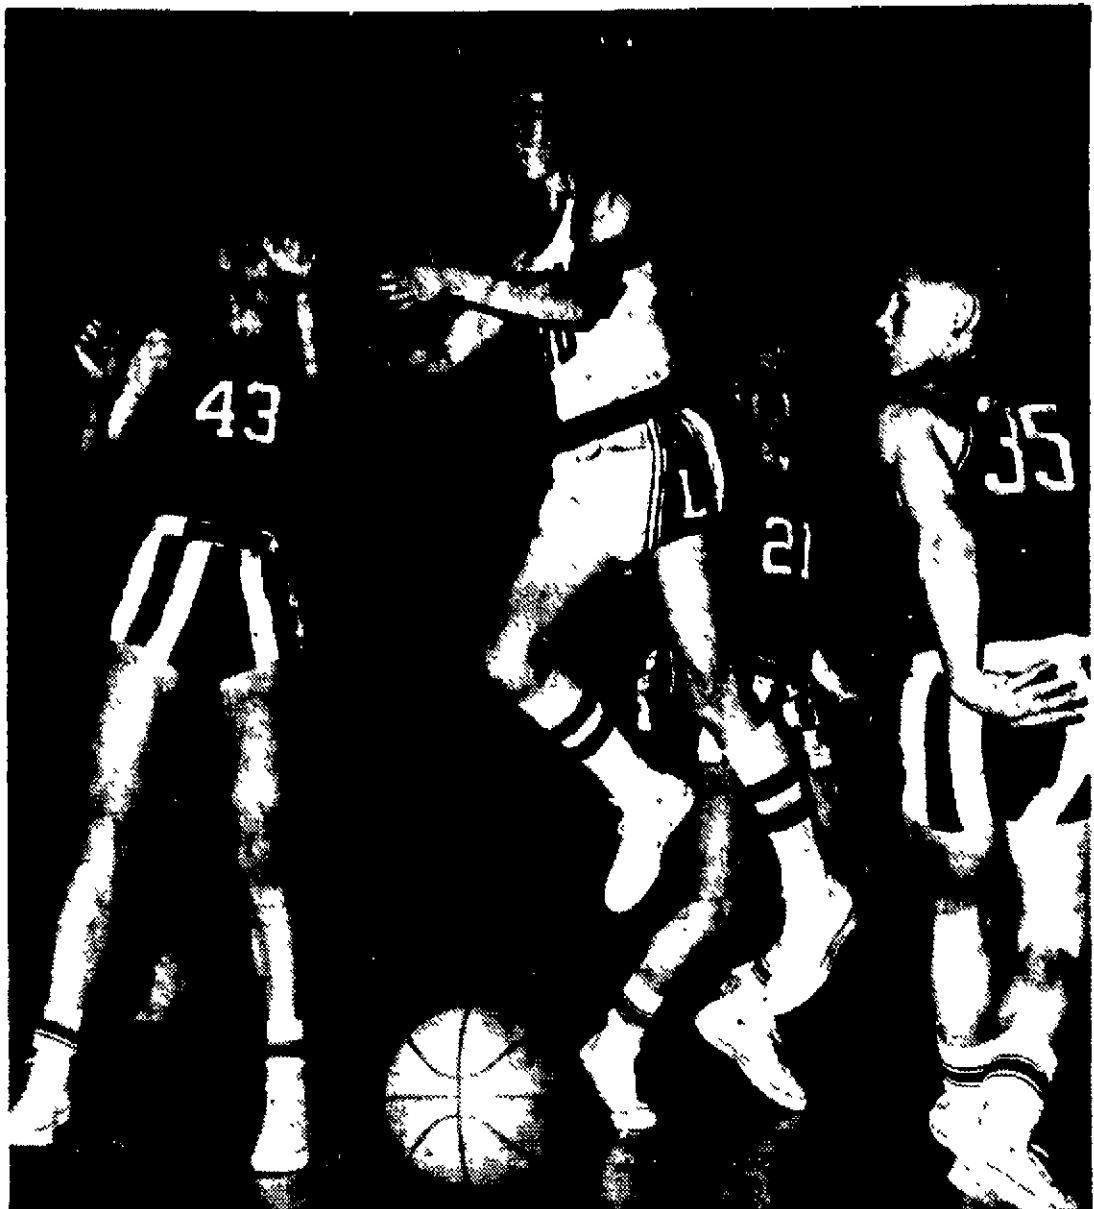

Others expected to see action are John Schade, Dick Briden, Allen Hadley and Ilza Gregor. The varsity schedule:
Dec. 1, St. Point; Dec. 4, St. Olaf; Dec. 5, Carleton; Dec. 11, at Cornell; Dec. 12, at Grinnell; Dec. 29, Holiday Tournament (Milton, St. Norbert, Northland & Lawrence); Dec. 30, Holiday Tournament; Jan. 8, Coe; Jan. 9, Beloit; Jan. 15, at Knox; Jan. 16, at Monmouth; Jan. 22, at Lake Forest; Jan. 30, Ripon; Feb. 5, Knox; Feb. 6, Monmouth; Feb. 12, at Coe; Feb. 13, at Beloit; Feb. 20, at Ripon; Feb. 26, Cornell; Feb. 27, Grinnell; March 5, at St. Olaf; March 6, at Carleton.

Oakland Coach Denies Offer To Craig Morton
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Coach Al Davis of the Oakland Raiders has denied that the team has offered University of California quarterback Craig Morton a $200,000 five-year contract.
The report was published Tuesday in the San Francisco Chronicle.
"Right now our draft plans do not include Morton," the mentor of the American Football League club said.
Wayne Hooper, an Oakland lawyer, said California's star senior quarterback has asked him to represent him in professional football talks.

Want Another Franchise Before Move

Anti-Trust Action Initiated by Attorney

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee attorney Francis J. Demet initiated an antitrust action in Federal Court Tuesday seeking to prohibit the Braves from moving to Atlanta until another major league franchise is obtained for Milwaukee.
Demet, who owns a single share of stock in the Braves but claims he represents a 4,000 minority stockholders, called baseball a monopoly.
He asked U.S. District Judge Robert E. Teahan for permission to substitute a sweeping antitrust complaint for an earlier motion he filed to force the Braves to remain in Milwaukee through 1965.
No hearing date was set for Demet's petition.
The Braves, ordered by the National League to fulfill a contract and play in Milwaukee County Stadium next season until moving to Atlanta in 1966, said earlier Tuesday they would accept a circuit court injunction barring a transfer in 1965.
Permanent Injunction
Demet asked a permanent injunction restraining the Braves "from transferring the assets and baseball franchise from Milwaukee until such time as a comparable major league franchise, with comparable major league assets, can be located in Milwaukee County Stadium."
Accusing the Braves and baseball of numerous alleged violations of the Sherman Antitrust Act, he urged that the Milwaukee club's 25-year contract to play in Atlanta's new stadium after 1965 be voided.
Demet cited 12 alleged violations of federal antitrust laws. They included charges that baseball clubs "monopolized, combined and conspired with one another to monopolize all major league baseball playing, trade or commerce among several states," conspired "and have, in effect, enacted a boycott against Milwaukee," and "monopolized and controlled the radio and television market" of major league games throughout the country.
The U.S. Supreme Court ruled in 1922 that baseball was exempt from antitrust laws. The decision was reaffirmed in 1953.

Bays' Starr Leads NFL Quarterbacks

Packers First Defensively; Brown Nears 2,000 Career Rushing Tries

NEW YORK (AP) — Jimmy Brown's seventh carry next Sunday against the Green Bay Packers will mark another National Football League plateau for the Cleveland Browns' great running back.
It will be Brown's 2,000th attempt to burst through an enemy line, and never before has an NFL player made that many tries. Brown, who broke the 1,000 yard mark for the sixth time last Sunday, has gained more than 10,000 yards since coming into the league eight years ago.

Schlitz Buys Colts' Radio, TV Rights

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Jos. Schlitz Brewing Co. announced Monday it has purchased the Houston Colts' radio and television rights for three years for $5,310,000.
Robert A. Uihlein Jr., president of the firm which has a brewery under construction at Longview, Tex., said the contract was signed with the Houston Sports Association, Inc., owner and operator of the National League baseball club.

Stadium Horns Banned By UW Officials

MADISON (AP) — The University of Wisconsin reported today it is banning "stadium horns" in Camp Randall Stadium. Complaints about their use in the Michigan State game Oct. 31 brought on the prohibition. Ushers have been alerted to look for the noise makers at Saturday's final game against Minnesota.

Schumerth Selected As 'Coach of Year'

Harold Schumerth, who directed Oshkosh High School to its first perfect season of its 42-year membership in the Fox River Valley Conference, has been named the circuit's "coach of the year."
Schumerth, who coached the team to an 8-0, championship season in the conference and a 9-0 record, overall, was selected by the Valley Sportswriters' Association.
The only other coach to garner at least one vote was Green Bay Southwest's Jim Reinke, who chalked up two victories in the small school's first conference season.
The 50-year-old Schumerth, who has been at the OSH helm for 22 years, also coached championship teams in '61 and '49. In the five seasons of the current decade, the Schumerth-coached Indians have posted a 31-4-1 record, a 33-7-1 mark, over-all.
Schumerth, whose '64 Indians broke five conference records, is a graduate of DePere High School and St. Norbert College. He earned a master's degree in guidance at Notre Dame. After serving as Marinette County recreation director and as Algoma High School football coach for four years, Schumerth took the Oshkosh job in '43.
Schumerth and his wife Sylvia have four children.

Fox Lutheran Tips Manawa in Opener

Dahlke Hits 18 as Foxes Win, 62-44

BY TIM PETERMANN Post-Crescent Staff Writer
Fox Valley Lutheran High School built up a 32-18 halftime lead, and then held off a Manawa rally in the second half for a 62-44 season-opening game basketball win and its first victory over Manawa after three losses.
Junior Mark Dahlke tallied 18 points, Brian Erickson 11 and Ron Vandertie and Lee Kiepkie 10 each to lead the FVL attack. Manawa opened the scoring with a free throw by Sabrowsky in the opening seconds. FVL countered after 2 minutes on Lee Kiepkie's lay-up for a 2-1 lead which they never relinquished. The scoring rocked back and forth with Fox Lutheran having leads of 7-3, and 9-5 before the quarter ended with FVL leading, 12-8.
In the second quarter, FVL outscored Manawa, 20-10, behind Dahlke and Erickson who had eight and 6 points, respectively, to jump to a commanding, 32-18 halftime lead.
In the second half, the Foxes' Vandertie scored after 1:04 and Sager tossed in a free throw to make it 35-18. Manawa's Knaack scored on a jumper, FVL's Erickson on an under-the-basket hook, and the Wolves Testin to make the score 37-22.
The Foxes' Erickson and the Wolves' Sabrowsky each made a charity toss before Kiepkie and Vandertie scored on two 20-foot jump shots. Manawa countered with two charity tosses and Testin's 25-foot shot. FVL scored two more baskets and amanawa a bucket and a free throw to give FVL a 46-30 lead at the end of the third quarter.
Filled With Fouls
The fourth quarter was filled with fouls, so that 10 of the 30 points scored came on free throws. Reserve Dennis Neumann came in with 2:27 left in the game and made five of the six free throws in 30 seconds of playing time to give FVL its big-est lead of the night, 62-42. Manawa's Testin scored with :05 seconds left to give FVL a 62-44 victory.
FVL shot 59 times making 22.

Lombardi Plans to Use 'Younger Boys' More In 4 Remaining Games

Film Shows Starr Was Rid of Ball Before Being Hit

BY ART DALEY Post-Crescent Staff Writer
GREEN BAY — "We'll be playing a lot of the younger boys from now on."
This was pointed out today by Vince Lombardi as the Packers set their sights on the next assignment — the Browns, leaders of the Eastern Division, in Milwaukee Sunday.
The Packers' head coach added that "This doesn't mean that we won't be playing the others, but we want to give the younger boys some experience."

Thus, the future becomes a factor as the Packers charge down the 4-game home stretch — the Browns, Cowboys in Dallas, Bears in Chicago and Rams in Los Angeles.
The Bays were eliminated from title consideration in their 24-14 loss to the 49ers in San Francisco Sunday, but second place is still up for grabs between the Rams, Lions, Vikings and Packers.
The question is: Can the Packers come back after their unexpected loss?
Lombardi answered it emphatically: "We'll try like hell to come back and finish as high as we can."

Steelers Place 4 On Injured List

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers placed four players on the injured reserve list Tuesday.
They are end Jim Kelly, linebacker Bob Schmitz, tackle Urban Henry and quarterback Terry Nofsinger.
Kelly, a rookie from Notre Dame, entered a hospital Tuesday for a knee operation. Schmitz has an injured knee in a cast. Henry has a bad back and Nofsinger is troubled with a pulled muscle.

Viewed Pictures
Vince and coaching aides Phil Bengtson, Red Cochran, Bill Austin, Norb Hecker and Tom Fears viewed pictures of the 49er game Monday and it wasn't a pleasant task.
The coach generally put the re-run this way: "We really played well on defense, the offense did nothing to take advantage of the opportunities, and the kicking game was atrocious."
Bart Starr was knocked cold by Roland Lakes, huge 49er tackle. The pictures didn't show any contact between Lakes and Starr because the camera followed the ball, Vince said, adding "we can see where he gets rid of the ball." Thus, Starr was hit after releasing the ball — an automatic 15 for roughing the passer but no penalty was called.

Big Play Has Hurt Badger Grid Fortunes

Bruhn Cites Lack of Clutch Performance As Reason for Woes

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin Coach Milt Bruhn, who probably will rest easier after Saturday's football finale with Minnesota is out of the way, says the Badgers' troubles this year can be traced to one thing—"We didn't come up with the big play."

"It's the longest, hardest season I've ever gone through," Bruhn said Tuesday as he prepared to welcome the Gophers. He continued.

"We didn't expect a great season when we started out, not by any stretch of the imagination. But we hoped we'd be respectable."

"There have been other seasons when we've got it good once or maybe twice, but never so decisive all the way. Some games we were okay for a half or maybe three-quarters. But then we peeled off pretty badly in the last part and took a real beating."

Wisconsin, with an overall record of 2-6, has won only one of five Big Ten games and is school gym, according to Robert Lamers, tourney director.

The affair will be sponsored by the Home-School Association with Purdue.

Looking ahead, Bruhn said, "We need one almighty fire to get things done Saturday. We'll talk to the kids, do our best to get them up. We have to hope there's some spark like we came up with against Iowa."

Injuries have been a big problem for the Badgers, but Bruhn said he didn't want to dwell on that.

But he said football "is made up of third downs. If you can stop the opposition on the big third down play, you're in business. If your offense can make it on third down with the big play, you're also in business. I think it's safe to say that the third down is the key. The one that can make you or break you."

His conclusion was obvious—the Badgers are not a good third down team.

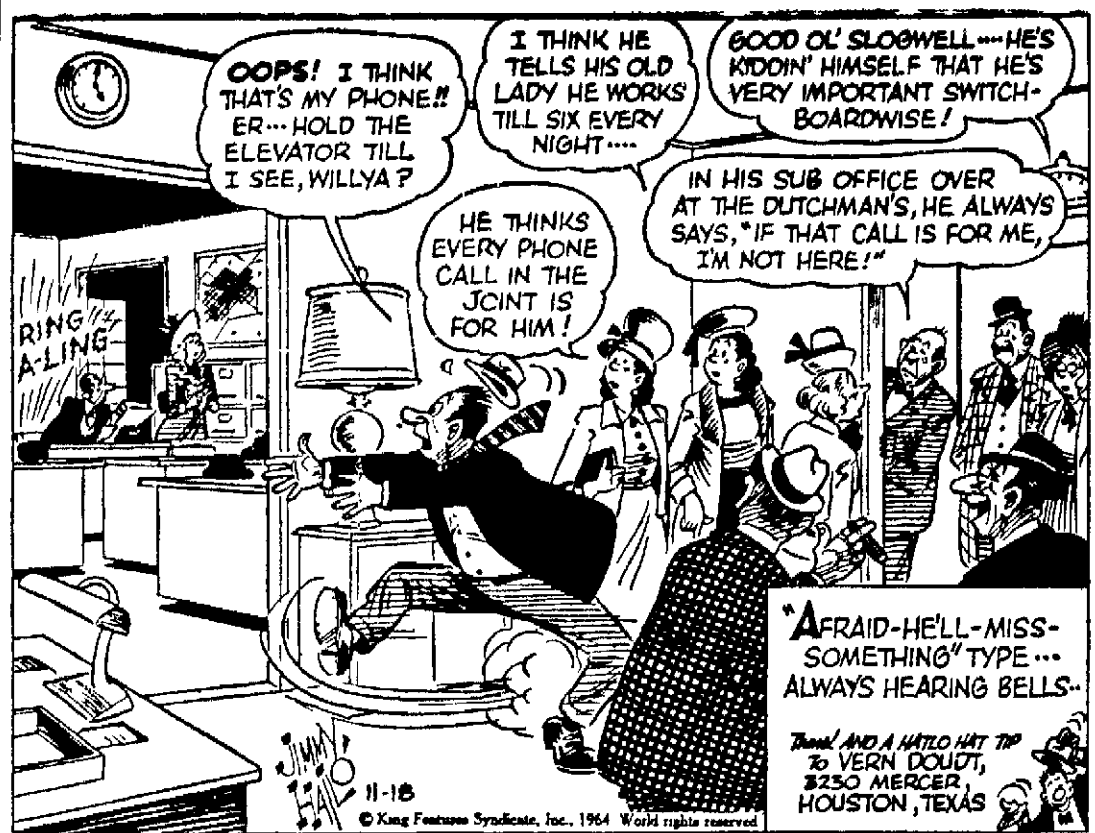

But what about Minnesota? Bruhn said he didn't go along with suggestions that the Gophers have been the best all season continued. He pointed to their record and noted the Gophers almost beat a great Nebraska team in the season opener, bowing 26-21.

Bruhn said that Minnesota quarterback John Hankinson should not be sold short, "and look at the men he aims at. I'd say he has the best big targets in the league." Minnesota's top receivers are all 6-foot-4 or better.

"They've got running power, too," said Bruhn.

ND Official Apologizes For Attack on MSU Band

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A Notre Dame official apologized Tuesday to Michigan State University for an attack on MSU band members at South Bend, Ind. after last Saturday's MSU-ND football game.

The attack occurred about one-half mile from the South Bend stadium following the game won by Notre Dame 34-7.

The Rev. Charles McCarragher, Notre Dame vice president of student affairs, estimated about 50 persons joined in the attack on the 175 member band.

"I would say we have a very strong feeling now not to return (to Notre Dame) until we have very definite evidence the student body has changed its attitude," Falcone said.

A committee decides each year which two games away from home the band will attend Notre Dame is on MSU's away schedule again next year.

In his telegram to MSU President John Hannah, Father McCarragher said.

"Sincere regrets from the alumni, faculty and students of Notre Dame university for the poor behavior shown by a few Notre Dame students and a few lower in regards to the Michigan State band following last Saturday's game.

"Many student groups are writing in support of my statement and also some of the band hats have been recovered and will be sent directly to the Michigan State band."

But, he added, "I know the Notre Dame band itself has been maltreated. The student body has been very discourteous toward their band. Last Saturday a mob almost pushed them off the field."

Notre Dame authorities said they were trying to identify attackers of the band.

Berra Will be Highest Paid Baseball Coach

Gets $40,000 Contract, Plus $25,000 From Yanks

BY JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Old Yankees never die. They just become Mets. Yogi Berra is the latest to cross over the bridge, following in the footsteps of Casey Stengel and George Weiss.

Berra will be a coach under Stengel, his old boss. If he can get into shape in spring training, Yogi will be placed on the active list as a player-coach.

This badly kept secret became a fact Tuesday when the Mets made the announcement at a news conference. Weiss, the club president, and Berra were on hand. A special telephone hookup to Glendale, Calif., was set up to bring Manager Stengel's comments across the nation.

They even had a Met uniform for Yogi. Naturally, it had No. 8 on the back.

The publicity staff thought of everything. It even had a message from Chris Cammarzo, the Mets' catcher who was the old No. 8. He bowed out in style, waiving his rights to No. 8 in a message from San Leandro, Calif.

Berra will be the highest paid coach in baseball. And probably in football, too. He will get a reported $40,000 from the Mets.

On the telephone hookup from Shop and Appleton Floors by one game.

Percy Karnopp slammed a 209 game and 532 series to pace the 41 Bowl Tuesday night.

Women's National League at the 41 Bowl Tuesday night.

People's Laundry (23-10) holds a 5-game lead in the circuit and the only other honor score registered was a 501 series by Barbara Eggleston.

On the telephone hookup from California, Stengel was in his usual form.

"Very, very delighted to have you, Yogi," he said to the man he used to call his assistant manager. "I know you'll be very successful. I looked up your record and it took two pages. Don't get into many jams. I don't want you to go light that fellow Clay."

and $25,000 from the Yanks in what Weiss described as "severance pay."

Yogi had made a more fortunate deal as a special field consultant after the Yanks fired him as manager the day after the World Series.

Under the terms of the Yankee contract, Yogi could take a job elsewhere and still get the $25,000. Under those circumstances it almost pays to be fired.

"I am happy to be coming here," said Berra. "I'll do whatever Casey wants. I'm going to work out in spring training. I may play if I can. I did catch some batting practice last spring."

Yogi listed his reasons for the shift.

"I felt I should be in uniform. I'd miss being out for a year. It will help me in the pension — two more years for 20. I had offers from other clubs but I'd rather be in New York. This is my home town now."

Berra said there was no understanding that he might succeed Stengel at some future date. There is a clause in the two-year contract with the Mets, freeing Yogi to take a manager's job elsewhere if one is offered.

"I don't know if I'd want to manage again," said Berra. "I worked for Casey for 12 years and I know I can learn a lot more from him."

Not Bitter

As for the Yankees, Berra said he was not bitter at all.

"I had 18 fine years over there (Yankee Stadium). They took me off the sandlot in St. Louis when the Cardinals and Browns didn't want to sign me. They just said they wanted to make a change. I had no idea they weren't going to hire me as manager again."

Buffalo Asks Waivers On Cookie Gilchrist

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Controversial Cookie Gilchrist, the American Football League's leading rusher and 1962 Player of the Year, appeared headed for either the Oakland Raiders or the New York Jets today after being discarded by the Buffalo Bills.

The Bills, pace-setters in the Eastern Division and hoping to win their first AFL title, fired the $30,000 a year, 250-pound fullback by placing him on the waiver block for $100. They said they wouldn't withdraw the waivers either.

Thus Gilchrist was available for the $100 to the AFL club with the poorest record. The Boston Patriots and the Jets put in a claim. Houston, Denver and Kansas City, which had prior rights because of worse records

Sternberg Gets Mail by Pound

Deluge Presents Problems for Injured Vaulter

SEATTLE (AP) — Brian Sternberg's got a problem. His mail is coming by the pound these days.

Sternberg, former University of Washington pole vaulter injured in a trampoline accident, said Tuesday most of the mail has come from Scandinavian countries.

"People there seem so friendly and I can't possibly answer all those letters. I hope it doesn't affect what people think about Americans, but answering these would be a problem — in postage alone."

"As far as I know," Sternberg said, "he was a well-wisher, just a fellow who was interested and wanted to talk to me."

"About a month later I got four letters from strangers in Sweden. The next day I got eight, and the day after that 20. Then 40."

"Some of them said something about an article — and in the article it said I liked to receive mail. Boy, did I receive the mail."

Sternberg, partially paralyzed in the 1963 accident, uses a special typewriter. He has been able to write some letters, but it is a slow process.

The flood of mail presents other problems — stacking and sorting.

Once a letter — "a very nice letter" — from Robert Kennedy was in the wrong pile three days before someone noticed it.

Snook, Huarte Eye Runnerup Spot to Rhome

Tulsa Quarterback Still Top Passer, Total Offense Leader

NEW YORK (AP) — Gary Snook of Iowa and John Huarte of Notre Dame are due to meet in a pitchers' battle Saturday but the best either can hope for is to wind up as No. 2 behind Tulsa's Jerry Rhome.

Rhyme, with a half dozen or so passing records safely stowed away, is far in front in both passing and total offense, according to figures released today by the NCAA Service Bureau. With two games to go, it appears impossible to overhaul him.

The big statistical contests left are between Snook and Huarte for the runner-up spot in total offense and in the rushing department, where Brian Piccolo of Wake Forest has a lead that isn't safe yet.

287 Yards Ahead
Snook, who has given Iowa the strongest air threat of any Big Ten team in history, is 287 yards ahead of Huarte in the over-all figures. But he ends his season with the Notre Dame game while Huarte will have one more to play. The eight-game figures are 2,541 yards for Rhome, 1,991 for Snook and 1,704 for Huarte.

In passing, it's Rhome 185 completions on 262 attempts for 2,330 yards and 27 touchdowns. California's Craig Morton is second with 165 completions and needs only 10 against Stanford to pass the 174 that gave Baylor's Don Trull a major college record last year. Snook, who has thrown 290 passes, is third with 143 completions.

Rhyme gained 289 yards against North Texas last Saturday, which gave him these one-season records: 2,541 total yards, surpassing Johnny Bright's 2,400 for Drake in 1950; 185 completions; 27 touchdown passes, 2,330 passing yards and 134 consecutive passes without an interception. He also has a major college career record of 4,932 yards by passing.

Grabowski Climbs
Piccolo leads the runners with 929 yards total. Donnie Anderson of Texas Tech is second with 877 and Ray Handley of Stanford third with 864. Right behind them are Jim Grabowski of Illinois, who jumped from 19th place to fourth by gaining 239 yards against Wisconsin last Saturday and Princeton's Cosmo Iacavazzi, whose 185 yards against Yale lifted him from 13th to fifth.

Svare Says Rams Failed to Adjust to Surprise Substitution

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A just to the quarterbacking of surprise substitution, spare Bukich

To make sure the Bears were mad, George Halas called a Saturday evening pre-game meeting.

The Rams are expected to lose again Sunday but for a much less complicated reason: They're playing the Baltimore Colts.

Ram Coach Harland Svare said a key factor in his team's loss to the Bears was that Rudy Bukich called the signals for Chicago instead of Bill Wade.

Svare said the Rams were ready for Wade but couldn't adjust to the surprise substitution.

They were, and the score the next day verified it.

Nelson Questions Proposal to Build Minnesota Plant

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Public Works Committee was asked by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., Tuesday to investigate a proposal to build a $68 million electric power plant on the St. Croix River near Stillwater, Minn., and opposite Hudson, Wis.

Nelson asked Sen. Pat McCarran, D-Mich., committee chairman, to authorize formal public hearings before a subcommittee on air and water pollution. Nelson is a member of the subcommittee.

Conservationists contend the "Northern States Power Co. would pollute the water and air and in a prime recreation area and damage fish and wildlife. Hearings on the scene could give us the opportunity to underscore the need for preventive action legislation," Nelson said.

Nelson added that the hearings should be held soon because northern states has asked Minnesota state agencies for prompt consideration of its application to build the project.

Waupaca Expects Little Tax Change

Total City Budget Up $29,725, Anticipated Revenues Also Rise

WAUPACA — City of Waupaca taxpayers can expect to pay city, county, state taxes and pay approximately the same amount of property taxes for the coming year as they paid this year.

The proposed rate is $36 per $1,000 assessed valuation. The total budget for 1965, taxes only if the 10 per cent including school, county, state refund from the state sales tax and trust fund payment will be reduced. This can be expected to be $42,123 of which $127,513 will be paid, he said, because money raised by the property tax levy for the payment of taxes for estimated 1965 city budget some persons over 65 years old, figures were revealed at a city called for by law, will come council meeting Tuesday. The from the sales tax fund.

Although no changes in the amount of taxes raised for 1965, there has been a substantial cut in the tax rate. This was the result of reassessment. Last year the rate was $54 per $1,000 assessed valuation and figured on 38 per cent of equalized valuation.

This year's rate is based on 72 per cent of the equalized valuation and the result is the 38 per cent of equalized valuation.

The new budget, which will be presented at a public hearing at the EUB Church at 7 p.m. Dec. 1, calls for 1965 expenditures of $368,731, up $29,725 from current year spending of $338,006.

The increase in expenditures is attributed to capital outlay. Approximately $28,000 of the increase has been budgeted to pay for capital improvements including sanitary sewers, curb and gutter, water mains, construction of a lift station on N. Washington Street plus other improvements.

The anticipated revenue increase resulted when the water department paid $10,000 on debts owed the city. There still is approximately $80,000 of the debt remaining. A $7,000 increase is expected from the parking meter fund. Until now only 50 per cent of the parking meter money was retained by the city and the balance went to pay for the meters. Now they are paid for so the entire amount, approximately $15,000, will go to the city.

by direct taxation. The city's outside revenues, when applied against local needs, leave $39,092 as the levy for city purposes. This compares with $77,688 raised in taxes for city spending a year ago.

Originally the council hoped to slash the local levy by about 80 per cent, to $15,592, but it added $23,500 before adopting the budget.

The $23,500 was placed in five separate categories. Residents at the hearing recommended $1,000 be added to the $11,672 for the police department budget.

Due to an oversight when setting up the budget $6,000 had to be added to the $1,250 for surface drains under health and sanitation.

An anticipated step-up in through-street development resulted in $7,000 being added to the $13,000 in that category.
